LONDON SHELLED

BERLIN, Nov. 22 (INS)—German long-range guns “effectively” shelled war important objectives in southeastern London this afternoon, it was officially announced in Berlin tonight.

Location of the “Big Berthas” which opened up against Britain’s capital was not disclosed, but it was assumed they fired from some point along the German-held channel coast of France.

It was only the second time since the war began that long-range guns had been fired into London.

When Germany announced a similar shelling some months ago, British authorities denied it, although shell fragments were reported found in the capital.—Editor’s note.

ITALIAN ARMY IN WILD ROUT

ATHENS, Nov. 22 (INS)—The heroic little army of Greece, battling against overwhelming odds, scored a major victory today by wresting the strategic Albanian city of Koritza from Italian hands and pushing farther northward on the heels of Premier Mussolini's fleeing troops.

Military sources said the fall of Koritza had "contaminated" the entire Italian army, last reported in wild flight to the heights north of the city.

Italian efforts to consolidate a new defense line from Moscopol to Pogradet failed. The retreating Italians overran their own secondary defense lines while the Greeks were still far in the rear.

An official communique announced the capture of Koritza to the exultant populace a short while after Premier John Metaxas personally told cheering Athenians of the victory.

Pursued by Greek cavalry according to reports in Athens, the retreating Italians took a number of inhabitants of Koritza as hostages.

SEEK TO TRAP 45,000
On the southern front, Greek troops were reported closing in on three Italian divisions—about 45,000 men—trapped between the sea and mountains. The Italians' only avenue of escape there is blocked by steep granite mountainsides and high cliffs.

After fleeing from Koritza, the Italians subjected the city to heavy artillery fire, in an attempt to destroy large quantities of supplies which they were unable to take with them.

The fall of Koritza set in motion a general Greek offensive along the entire front.

RIOTOUS RETREAT

Military advisers said the attack was developing "most successfully" everywhere. The Italians were reported in riotous retreat all along the Albanian frontier.

There was every indication that the retreat was developing into a rout comparable only to the Italian defeat at Adowa in the historic first African campaign and at Guadalajara during the recent Spanish civil war.

Italian troops laid down their arms by the thousands. So many of Mussolini's troops surrendered as the Greeks rolled forward that the army found itself unable to round them up for concentration.

They were left behind in Albanian towns and villages to be dealt with by the Greek rear guards when they arrive.

Bitoli, Yugoslavia, reported that Greek and British warplanes, following up the capture of Koritza, harassed Italians retreating.

ITALIANS ADMIT LOSS OF KORITZA

ROME, Nov. 22 (AP)—Italy acknowledged today the loss of Koritza, base in southern Albania from which the Italian army launched its invasion of Greece 25 days ago.

Eleven days of bitter fighting, in which Italian losses were "considerable" and those of the Greeks perhaps even heavier, preceded the abandonment of the city, 10 miles inside Albania, the high command announced. Its communique gave this account:

"Our protective troops, formed by two divisions which took up defensive positions on the Greek-Albanian frontier at Koritza at the beginning of the war, have withdrawn after 11 days' fighting to a line west of the city, which has been evacuated."

"During this period bitter fighting took place. Our losses were considerable. Those of the enemy were equally so, perhaps heavier."

"Our reinforcements are concentrating on a new line."

"Despite prohibitive atmospheric conditions our air force has co-operated with the troops, bombing some military objectives."

Court Rules Curley Must Pay $42,600 To City, $7000 Costs

By a full bench decision of the Supreme Judicial Court, former Gov. James M. Curley today was ordered to pay the City of Boston $42,600, and he must furthermore pay court costs of about $7000.

The $42,600 represents principal and interest on $30,000 "improperly received" in settlement, Nov. 28, 1933, of claim against the city by General Equipment Corp. when Curley was mayor.

Atty. Joseph Santosuosso, in the same decision, was ordered to pay $28,400 to the city, plus costs of about $2000. His $28,400 represents $20,000 "improperly received" in the same settlement, plus interest.

The decision of the full bench came on an appeal of Curley and Santosuosso from a finding by Judge Frederick W. Fosdick of Superior Court that both participated in a plot with Frederick H. Graves and received the moneys illegally.

GRAVES UPHOLD
Despite the fact that Graves, chief witness against Curley in the superior court trial, has since served 16 months in jail for perjury in the case, the Supreme Court found that Judge Fosdick was justified in relying on Graves' testimony.

"The witnesses were before the judge," said the decision, read by Chief Justice Fred T. Field, "and he was able to decide from their appearances and actions in testifying as to their truthfulness, with greater probability of being right than anyone can from a mere reading of their statements in print."

The decision today grew out of an original suit by the city against Curley and Santosuosso, charging that while the General Equipment Corp.'s claim against the city was still in the courts, Curley, as mayor, authorized a settlement of $85,000, $15,000 to Graves.

Graves testified during the trial that the proposition of the settlement was made to Curley at a Washington hotel and that Curley said:

"What is there in it for me?" Subsequently, charged the city, after making a deal with Graves, the settlement was made, Curley got $30,000, Santosuosso $20,000, while Graves collected $15,000, and the balance went to the parties suing the city.

The Supreme Court remarked today that there was no apparent disposition on Curley's part in 1933 to settle the General Equipment claim until after the alleged conversation with Graves.

Terming Curley and Santosuosso "co-conspirators," the Supreme Court found that Curley was guilty of a breach of his fiduciary duty as mayor of Boston.

It affirmed decrees denying Curley and Santosuosso motions for framing jury issues and it affirmed a decree denying the defendants' motions for a new trial.

"The trial judge's (Judge Fosdick's) finding is of 'consciousness of guilt' on the part of both defendants, in that each testified falsely in material particulars," said the court.

"This finding imports that such testimony was wilfully untrue. The finding that the defendants testified 'falsely' in this sense, in material particulars, is not plainly wrong on the evidence."

"And from such a finding 'consciousness of guilt' was properly inferred."

"Such false testimony is in the nature of an admission from which, with the evidence, guilt of liability may be inferred."

"The trial judge found that the entire proceeds of the $30,000 check 'were turned over to Curley by the defendant Santosuosso in accordance with the understanding whereby Curley, as mayor, authorized the settlement to be made.'"

The decision found that Santosuosso was Curley's agent, as well as co-conspirator, in receiving the moneys and concluded:

"Upon the evidence and findings of the trial judge supported thereby, which cannot be reversed by this court, and the principles of law decided in the case when

War Plant Closed by CIO Strike

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—Representatives of the Aluminum Co. of America and the CIO conferred for five hours today without settling a strike which grew out of a dispute over one worker and threw into idleness 7500 employees at the company's vast works here.

The strike, which halted work on thousands of dollars' worth of aviation and other army contracts, started in a sheet mill yesterday and spread throughout the plant as workers on early morning shifts reported today.

Spokesmen for the CIO's Aluminum Workers Union blamed the strike on the company's refusal to discharge a mill worker who, they said, threatened a union official. The union called for a meeting of members tonight to "discuss the situation in general."

William Harker, spokesman for Local No. 2 of the Aluminum Workers Union, which called the strike, said both the union and the company "hated to see the defense program treated this way." The company said the strike was "not justified."

Among the defense contracts on which the plant was working was a $1,200,000 order for 25,000 sets of field kitchens for the U. S. Army.

Harker, referring to the reason for the walkout, said the company refused to discharge a millworker who brandished a knife and threatened to kill Davis, chairman of the local's sheet mill committee, when Davis demanded that he pay up back dues.

Police Set For Raid on Nazis Here

While the German consul here declared he "had nothing to hide" from the Dies committee, which linked his name in a report which charges Nazi economic war on America, special details of Boston police were ready to join in promised Nazi raids in this district.

As Deputy Police Supt. J. R. Claflin stated that Boston police are available, if called, the German consul, Dr. Herbert Scholz, expressed himself as gratified over publication of the so-called German White Paper because, he said, it confutes rumor with fact regarding activities of the German consulate here.

Meanwhile, at Washington, it was disclosed that the Dies committee will soon follow up its German White Paper with companion papers on Italian and Japanese activities.

In the Dies White Paper, which charged that a widespread network of Nazi propaganda and espionage exists in this country, Boston was named as one of eight bases of operations in the nation.

While the raids were promised "within 48 hours," police said they had not been called upon yet to assist the Dies men as they did during a raid conducted last summer here.

Meanwhile, from Massachusetts men and women linked by the Dies report came other denials that they had any idea that certain alleged Nazi-sponsored organizations, of which they are members, are subversive or off color.

ONLY HIS DUTY

Dr. Scholz, who was among a host of German diplomatic officials and other prominent German residents in this country named specifically in the report on Nazi propaganda activities, stated:

"The consul of any country has the duty to assist any of his countrymen who call on him. It is customary for business men in foreign countries to inquire about markets and to make contacts with business relationships."

In this connection, Dr. Scholz was referring to letters exchanged between him and Dr. Manfred Zapp, head of the Berlin-owned Transoceanic News Agency, who with Dr. Frederick Kertess, head of the Chemical Marketing Co., New York, stand out as chief figures in the report. The letters were concluded with "Heil Hitler."

"It is very interesting in that connection," said Dr. Scholz, "that the American diplomatic service in foreign countries has long included special agents of the

INA GOTTLIEB OF BOSTON
Named in Dies Probe

Treasury Department who report to Washington information useful to American businessmen.

"Indeed, interesting bulletins about foreign trade are issued, based on these reports."

JUST A SALESMAN

"To me, Transoceanic News, which Mr. Dies mentioned, is merely another article of commerce and Dr. Zapp just another salesman interested in marketing his product."

"There seems to be so much rumor in the air these days that I quite welcome the publicity given by the Dies report which shows, to anyone who reads it, that letters from the German consulate in Boston treat only of routine commercial inquiries."

"LADY GODIVA AND THE DRAB-GRAB TAX MAN"—The tranquility of Tax Commissioner Henry P. Long's office was interrupted today when shapely Yvette Dare, star of the Latin Quarter, marched in and protested the proposed sales tax on feminine accessories. Noting her scanty attire, Mr. Long asked Miss Dare to return to her hotel, put on a dress and return to his office. He promised to talk with her then.

HUB LADY GODIVA GALLOPS GRAB TAX PROTEST TO LONG

Things being what they are, that Drab Grab Tax Man got quite a shock today at the State House when a modern Lady Godiva arrived to protest prettily against new taxes on cosmetics, clothing and such—and to show him what his Grab would do to the ladies.

It was very evident to Tax Commissioner Henry P. Long, the Drab Grab Tax Man, what his amazing nuisance levies would do, because shapely Yvette Dare (who aid dare) was clad only in red silk shorts, a white silk blouse and little pumps.

She had been delegated by snow-girls and entertainers, said Yvette, to throw a beef to the Drab Grab Tax Man and try to make him see the error of his ways.

So they got a horse—a generous and hair-flecked white steed—for Yvette and she swung aboard and settled her scanties firmly and took off through the streets for Beacon Hill.

STEED MOVES SLOWLY

There were some among the curious spectators who thought they recognized the plodding beast of the Godiva as a termitte they had often bet on in the sixth or seventh or fourth race only to have him become a fugitive from justice, but the jockey from the Camden Stables (Roxbury) said no, he didn't think so.

For instance, said the jockey, one Nathan Wherry, you would have to gallop this Scoury II in order, if you cared, even to take slow motion pictures.

At the rear of the State House, Yvette parked her four-footed, 1800-pound vehicle and made her way to the Drab Grab Tax Man's office—not unnoticed, you may be sure, in this display of what the girls must pay down to if the great man

Bride Killed Near Honeymoon Goal

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 22 (AP)—Hope of a young Ohio couple for a honeymoon on semi-tropic "Honey-moon Island" was dashed tragically early today when the 16-year-old bride of a week was killed in an automobile accident.

County Traffic Officer Jack Combie said the girl was the former Elaine Anderson of Dayton, O., who had eloped a week ago with 19-year-old Gene Floyd of Dayton.

Combie said they planned to stay in one of the free cottages on the Gulf of Mexico island haven west of here sponsored by wealthy Clinton M. Washburn while Floyd looked for a job.

The girl's skull was fractured when the old model car overturned on a curve. Floyd was uninjured, but appeared shocked. They were within 25 miles of their destination.

IN DIES "WHITE PAPER"—Efforts of Nazi diplomats and undercover agents to spread German propaganda were exposed by the Dies committee, which issued its long-heralded "White Paper" naming, among many (l. to r.), Dr. Hans Thomsen, charge d'affairs of the German embassy; Dr. Hans Borchers, German consul general in New York, and Dr. Frederick Auhagen, leader of the Fellowship Forum, as alleged espionage workers.

BOSTONIANS IN DRAFT—Carmelo P. Cascone, first Boston youth to pass the selective service examinations, is finger-printed by Sergts. Walter S. Kobus and Thomas P. Duffy at Irvington St. Armory today. Cascone is one of Boston's 97 volunteers for a year's army training.

97 Hub Volunteers Undergo Draft Test

A 21-year-old Roxbury plastic worker, one of a family of six children, was first selective service candidate accepted at the South Armory today for Uncle Sam's new peacetime draft

The prospective soldier, Carmelo Cascone of Shirley st., Roxbury, went through the three-hour physical and mental examination with flying colors and was smiling broadly as he took the oath and was inducted into U. S. military ranks.

Of 169 candidates, all volunteers on hand for examination at the Irvington st. armory, Cascone and five others headed the list of those accepted and sworn in.

69 HUB VOUNTEERS

Included in the 169 were 97 from Boston, two from Winthrop and one from Vineyard Haven, in addition to 69 "replacements" called to fill quota vacancies resulting from rejections in examinations Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Besides Cascone, the first group of would-be soldiers accepted today included:

JOSEPH A. BRADY, 28, of prospect st., Charlestown, an electrician's helper.

MARTIN J. VICKERS, 28, of Osborn rd., Arlington, dispatcher at a Park sq. bus terminal.

MICHAEL F. WILLIAMS, 25, of Adams st., Roxbury, a machinist.

JOSEPH C. HAFI, JR., 25, of Adams st., Roxbury, a chemist.

MARTIN J. CANATA, 28, of Jackson st., Charlestown, unemployed.

TOLIN GIVES AID

Mayor Tobin brought two Jamaica Plain candidates and one from Roslindale to the armory in his own automobile, after picking them up at their respective homes. Each of them was given a pen and pencil set by the Jamaica Plain Board of Trade.

The three thus honored were Rodney H. L'Amoureux, 21, of Elm st., Jamaica Plain; Arthur J. Neilson, 20, of Fowle st., Roslindale; and Francis T. Donovan, 27, of Eardwell st., Jamaica Plain.

Youngest volunteer to report thus far was 18-year-old Harold Engler of Townsend st., Roxbury. He had signed permission of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Engler, but examining officers pointed out that the signatures had not been witnessed by a notary.

PARENTS GIVE CONSENT

Impressed, however, by the boy candidate's enthusiasm and patriotic spirit, Army authorities called his mother and father to the armory and arranged to have the necessary formalities accomplished.

Rejection on his previous application because he had one bad tooth, Bernard Cowie, 24, of Gloucester, was on hand again today with teeth shining and perfect after a hurried visit to the dentist, Elmer Van Blaricum. West End hotel proprietor and World War Navy veteran, brought his son, Henry, 21, to the armory and sat with him for more than five hours, waiting for the boy's turn to be examined. The doctors' verdict was "Okay," and young Van Blaricum was to be inducted later in the day.

Theoretically this last day's contingent should fill the State's initial quota of 532 men by tonight, but because of previous failures to meet the Army's rigid physical requirements it was apparent the quota would fall short of the mark.

TEETH NOW O. K.

Arriving together at the South Armory and hoping to stay together were Robert and Ralph Leonard, brothers, 26 and 24, respectively, who volunteered to fill Winthrop's quota of two. They were both turned down by their local board a week ago on grounds of bad teeth.

Winthrop officials were on the point of calling up men—which would be the first instance of actual "drafting" in the State—when the Leonards suddenly appeared last night.

"Hold everything," they said. "We've been to the dentist and our teeth are now O. K."

Examination by Dr. Harvey Kelley, board physician, proved they were right.

The boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Leonard of Cliff ave. Their father is a Spanish War veteran and has eleven children.

YOUTH CONFESSES BLUDGEONING WOMAN AS SHE PRAYS IN CHURCH

Swayed by police advice to unburden himself of everything, a 23-year-old Quincy bandit suspect in a Boston police lineup today admitted not only bludgeoning a woman in St. Patrick's Church, Roxbury, but confessed to a church theft in Quincy.

The youth was arrested yesterday as he cowered in a confessional at St. Patrick's after Mrs. Margaret Hogan, 45, of Draper st., Dorchester, had been stunned by a blow on the head, but had run from the church to call police.

Police who captured him found he had a heavy bolt wrapped in a handkerchief, and the youth admitted today that he had waited in the church until only Mrs. Hogan knelt in prayer.

ADMITS ATTACK

In the lineup today he confessed to the bludgeoning and his intent to steal Mrs. Hogan's pocketbook. Sergeant Francis Russell, in charge of the lineup, advised the youth to get everything off his mind while he had a chance, but the prisoner left the lineup.

After a brief talk, however, with Special Officers Leo V. Devlin and Joseph P. Cullinane of Dudley st. station, the prisoner once more went into the showup and said he wished to confess he had planned a similar theft at the Mission Church, Roxbury, but had lost his nerve.

He said that in St. John's Church, Quincy, he had stolen a woman's handbag as she knelt in prayer. In the handbag, he said, was $50 in cash, as well as two diamond rings.

PAWNEED RINGS

He said he had pawned the diamond rings at a place in Stuart st., which he could point out, and had received $12 on them. Police said the rings were valued at $400.

Although, by his own story, possessed of the $92 in cash, he excused his attack on Mrs. Hogan with the claim that he had not eaten since last Saturday.

PHILIP MURRAY

MURRAY CHOSEN CIO HEAD

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 22 (AP)—The Congress of Industrial Organizations chose Philip Murray as its president by acclamation today, bestowing on him the mantle of leadership worn for the past five years by John L. Lewis in his acceptance speech the new CIO president called on the cheering delegates for united action and end to "bickering" within the organization.

Obviously referring to appeals by President Roosevelt for an end to the labor war through peace conferences between CIO and A. F. of L. leaders, Murray said: DEPLORES 'SHOTGUN' METHOD

"I offer a mild protest against the use of governmental pressure to force a shotgun agreement with the American Federation of Labor."

Murray said he had read that when Lewis stepped out, he would rush into an agreement on labor peace.

"Well," he said, "I think I am a man and that all my convictions are my own."

Lewis, stepping down as he promised he would do if President Roosevelt were re-elected, placed the Pittsburgh labor leader's name before the CIO convention as that of his choice as successor.

Murray was an "industrial statesman" who had established a "brilliant record," Lewis said.

"For three decades," the retiring CIO president said, "he has contributed of his great energy to labor without self-consideration."

As he stepped down as head of the organization he helped organize, Lewis declared the CIO had built up "a proud record of accomplishment."

The choice of pro and anti-Lewis groups, Murray in his acceptance told the convention he stood before it "humble in the sight of God."

"I have no illusion about the mighty honor this convention has thrust upon me," he said. "I have no illusions about the weighty responsibilities entailed in becoming president of the great organization."

CURRAN ELECTED

Murray's election was followed by the surprise selection of Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, as one of CIO's six vice-presidents, succeeding Murray.

Frank R. Rosenbloom of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers was named to the vice-presidency vacated by Sidney Hillman of the same union, now national defense commissioner for labor.

The convention re-elected the other vice-presidents: Emil Rieve of the Textile Workers' Union of America, Sherman Dalrymple of the United Rubber Workers' Union, R. J. Thomas of the United Automobile Workers and Reid Robinson of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. James Carey was re-elected secretary.

21 Aged, Infirm Saved In Burlington Blaze

Twenty-one aged and infirm patients of the Pine Tree Rest Inn, an 18-room convalescent home in Burlington Center, opened only 10 days ago, were saved from flames which razed the structure today.

Three nurses, clad only in pajamas, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shephard, operators of the inn, led out these inmates able to walk and pushed the others to safety on wheelchairs while the blaze spread.

Within a few minutes the entire building was ablaze. All furnishings and clothing of its occupants were destroyed.

NURSES GIVE AID

The nurses, who let their belongings burn while saving the patients, were Helen Croken, Rita Houghton and Mrs. Clarabelle Boynton.

Firemen and volunteers of the Burlington and Billerica departments, hampered by lack of water, could only check the spread of the flames to a nearby grove and barn.

The 21 patients saved in the $30,000 fire, all former residents of Everett, are the following:

Mrs. Etta Lowell, 70; Mrs.

Catherine McDougal, 60; Mrs. Agnes Parlee, 70; Mrs. Sarah Sibley, 80.

LEW JENKINS' PILOT QUIZZED IN SWINDLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS)—Hymie Caplin, manager of Lew Jenkins, lightweight champion who is scheduled to fight at Madison Square Garden tonight, was taken into custody by Dist. Atty. William O'Dwyer of Brooklyn today for questioning in a $4,000,000 card swindling racket.

Taken to O'Dwyer's office with the fight manager were three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Rubin, Mrs. Frances Cohen and Mrs. Gussie Blumen-son, and the latter's husband, Abraham, according to Asst. Dist. Atty. John Rooney.

Rooney said Caplin and Mrs. Rubin were suspected of heading a "neighborhood" card games swindle. They have not been arrested.

Watchdog Fails To Halt Theft

Burglars who apparently had a friendly way with dogs looted a Waban home of $190 worth of silver and jewelry, Norman McCutcheon, reported to police today.

McCutcheon could not understand how the prowlers pacified his watchdog.

McCutcheon's story caused police to check back through records of a recent West Newton burglary. In that break the burglars took a roast of beef from a refrigerator and fed it to the dog to keep him quiet.

Curley, Santosuosso Lose in High Court

It was here before, the decree (of Judge Fosdick) was right in ordering the defendants to pay the amounts with interest from Nov. 28, 1933.

CLIMAX'S LONG BATTLE

Today's Supreme Court finding came as climax to a dramatic legal-political battle dating back to 1931.

In December of that year, a water main break did extensive damage to property of the General Equipment Corporation, which owned a building in Kenmore sq., Back Bay.

The corporation and the insurance firm which made good a part of the damage brought suit against the city of Boston, winning an original jury award of $129,646.

The award was made on the claim that the water damage was caused by excavation work done in connection with a subway extension project sponsored by Mayor Curley's administration.

The jury verdict was subsequently set aside, however, and the General Equipment Corp. and the insurance firm carried their exceptions to the Supreme Court.

In 1933, while the $129,646 damage suit was still hanging fire, Mayor Curley approved a "compromise settlement" of $85,000.

Mayor Curley's political star continued in the ascendant and he was elected Governor in 1934.

Defeated for the United States Senate in the fall of 1936 he made no secret of his intention of entering the Boston mayoral lists again in 1937.

Before his candidacy for mayor had been formally announced, however, he was named as co-defendant in a civil suit brought by the city to recover $50,000 of the General Equipment Corporation settlement payment.

CHARGED POLITICS

Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield, long a bitter Curley foe, was in office when the suit was filed in January, 1937.

Soon after the filing of the city's suit, Curley announced his candidacy for mayor.

He and Santosuosso claimed the suit was brought to serve political ends, and they went to the State Supreme court with a petition to have the lower court action quashed.

Trial of the suit was thus delayed until after the mayoral election of 1937, in which Curley was defeated by Maurice J. Tobin, the present mayor.

The suit came to trial later in the year before Judge Frederick W. Fosdick in Suffolk superior court.

A dramatic highlight of the proceedings was appearance and testimony of "mystery witness" Frederick H. Graves.

Flatly contradicting previous evidence he had given before the Boston Finance Commission, he testified to Judge Fosdick an alleged interview in the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., where he said the then Mayor Curley, asked to approve the General Equipment Corporation settlement, demanded: "What is there in it for me?"

Graves told Curley there was $40,000 in it for him, Graves testified. He said Curley told Atty. Santosuosso to "fix it up right away."

Graves was subsequently found guilty of perjury before the finance commission and was sentenced to Deer Island for a term he recently finished after transfer to Barnstable jail.

JAPANESE QUITTING SHANTUNG

SHANGHAI, Nov. 22 (AP) —
Considerable numbers of Japanese troops were reported today to be withdrawing from Shantung province in northern China amid evidence of growing Japanese concentrations in the South.

Advice from foreign sources said a steady stream of Japanese troops has been leaving Shantung by railroad for the past week.
These sources said they were unloading on transports at Tientsin and Tsingtao for undisclosed destinations, but were believed to be headed south toward the Japanese island of Formosa and the Japanese-occupied island of Hainan, off the China coast.

Some casualties among the withdrawing forces indicated that the Chinese were keeping up their pressure on Shantung.

Foreign military sources said they interpreted these movements as evidence that Japan is planning a new southward thrust.

M. D.'S BAN PERSHING AS ENVOY

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 22 (INS) — President Roosevelt disclosed today he had offered the ambassadorship to France to Gen. John J. Pershing, but the general's doctors had refused to allow him to accept the post.

Mr. Roosevelt revealed that he had attempted to send the general of the American Army back to France because of his World War association with Marshal Petain, who now heads the Vichy government.

The President said he had not given consideration to sending anyone else to Vichy.

William C. Bullitt, the President sent in answer to a question, is still ambassador to France. His resignation has not been accepted.

SPEEDS AID TO BRITAIN

Efforts to question Mr. Roosevelt about additional aid to Great Britain brought the retort that current suggestions amount to glittering generalities.

The United States is doing everything it can at the present time to aid Britain, the President said. He said he would appreciate it if anyone would show him how to turn out planes faster. Issuance of an order won't produce a plane, he commented.

The President indicated that the government had no present plans to send more ships part way across to the British, as suggested in some papers.

Mr. Roosevelt branded as "just another story" a Rome report that following his reelection he intended to sound out Pope Pius on the possibility of the issuance of a joint peace appeal.

MORE DEFENSE TOURS

There will be additional defense tours, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed, and they will come some time in December.

Asked about the future status of Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to London, now in this country, the President said he knew only what he had read in the newspapers. Kennedy it has been reported, does not want to return to his post.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would leave his family home Sunday night for Washington and remain in the national capital all of next week.

Probe Mystery In Baby's Death

Mysteriously stricken at a nursing home in Chwick rd., Brighton, 18-month-old Peter Gettins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gettins of Chestnut Hill ave., Brighton, died suddenly today.

Police, nurses and three doctors sought to resuscitate the child victim with an inhalator, but were forced to give up the battle after an hour.

Cause of death remained undetermined pending investigation by the medical examiner.

The child had been in the nursing home only since yesterday, according to police.

Miss Agnes Kedan, who operates the home, said she made a tour of inspection and found the little boy all right at 8 a. m.

At 8 a. m. he showed alarming symptoms, she said, and she summoned a doctor.

Camp Fee Charges Start Legion Probe

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Aroused over charges that Legionnaires were forced to buy their jobs as carpenters through initiation fees at Camp Edwards, Brockton Post 35, American Legion, today added its voice to increasing protests.

The Camp Edwards situation was discussed at a meeting of the Brockton Post during which it also was demanded that a probe be made into charges that World War veterans were discharged indiscriminately at the camp on the grounds they were beyond the age limit.

While union officials declared the accusations were unfounded, Post Commander John Mara said the complaints were being posed by a special committee and that an immediate report would be made to him.

The charges, Commander Mara said, were lodged with Christopher Brady, North Easton, chairman of the Legion's employment committee.

"If the charges are substantiated, I will take the matter to the proper government authorities and demand action against the guilty one," Mara said.

BRADY REPLIES
Brady reported to Mara "After we were assured of getting our unemployed comrades jobs at the camp, the 'tap' was put on them to pay $75 in fees for the right to work."

"One comrade reported to me that he was laid-off a few days ago. This ex-doughboy was made to pay $75 to the carpenters' union. He worked only five weeks, thereby paying $15 a week for the privilege of being employed."

"Another case brought to my attention was that of a comrade who was paying at the rate of $11 weekly into the union and, after allegedly paying a total of $68, was discharged."

"When these men applied for jobs at the camp they were asked whether or not they were veterans. Those that answered in the affirmative were dismissed after a few weeks. I don't know whether or not they were discriminating against non-veterans and veterans as they were non-union and union men."

"I firmly believe in unionism and one of the first to support it, but it is my belief that if such things exist or had existed at the Camp Edwards government project, something should be done."

Commander Mara revealed that at the meeting several legion members took the floor to protest against being laid off although capable of doing their jobs while others with only a hammer, a saw and claiming to be carpenters were kept, because they knew a union man or had political contact.

CHARGES CALLED FALSE
Informed of the Legion charges against union activities at Camp Edwards, Laurence Pratt, business agent of Brockton Local No. 521, Carpenters' Union, said that the charges were unfounded.

"The union is not attempting to profiteer on the defense program by charging the $75 initiation fee. It was the union who was able to secure the $11.75 cents per hour and time and one-half for overtime and Saturdays, along with double time for Sundays and holidays for the workers," Pratt said.

Pratt further asserted that nearly 450 World War veterans were hired as carpenters on the Camp Edwards job. He claimed that the union had no further jurisdiction over the employment angle, after the men were hired and okayed by him as being members of the union.

UNION TO MEET
While protests against the carpenter's union were flourishing at Camp Edwards, members of the New Bedford Central Labor Union have scheduled a meeting for today in the textile city.

Butter because of the recent publicity given his union over the initiation fee charged at the Cape military camp, it was reported in New Bedford today that Joseph Guilbault and certain trading trader union, connected with the central council, will demand S. P. Jason, its president, resign from his post.

GO INTO HUDDLE
At the Army Base today Army officials, in charge of construction in the First Corps Area, were expected to go into a huddle with representatives of the local laborers' union, and a representative of Congressman John W. McCormack, of South Boston.

James Dunne, representing Eastern Massachusetts Laborers' District Council and Patrick J. Desmond, of Local No. 223 of Boston, both of whom have taken an active part in putting unemployed men back to work in the various government defense projects, have protested over the attitude taken by local Army officials in recognizing the laborers' union.

The union representatives charge that under a War Department ruling union help must be considered first in any government defense construction job or project.

Both Dunne and Desmond have been commended recently by civic leaders for the manner in which they have acted in allowing non-union men to work on union jobs without paying initiation fees until such times as the worker was financially able to make a small initial deposit on his union fee, which is about $35.

Adding to the current Camp Edwards probes was another undertaken today by the State Department of Labor following complaints made by a recently-discharged carpenter.

Francis P. Murphy, complained to state officials that he had been "docked" two days pay because he was classified as a non-union worker.

Murphy contended that he joined the union and paid a deposit fee of $10. Receipt of $10 was produced to the state investigators as well as the discharge slip which he received stating reason for discharge, "non-union member."

Says Her Cash Wined Other Girl

Money she gave him to invest for her was spent by him on another woman, Miss K. Vera Martin, 33, a Boston school teacher, testified today in Roxbury court against Francis T. O'Neill, 37, of Massachusetts ave., Arlington.

As Judge John J. Crehan listened with apparent amazement, the school teacher, living in Park drive, Fenway, stated that in the period of eight years she has known O'Neill she has given him $500.

"There is nothing between us more than friendship," she declared, however, when asked by counsel if she was in love with O'Neill.

He was charged specifically with the larceny of $200 by means of false pretenses, money she said she gave him Sept. 10 to invest in a Springfield factory. But, she declared, he never invested it.

"He told me," she testified, "that he took another girl to New York and spent the money, stopping at the Biltmore, going to the World's Fair and having a good time. They wined and dined on my money."

"Barnum was right," Judge Crehan interjected. "I can't understand a woman of your intelligence going for this thing in such a way. You should be more careful of your hard-earned money."

"If it were not such strong language, I'd call this a man a skunk. You were an innocent woman, falling for one cock-and-bull story after another."

"Things sounded plausible enough," she replied to the judge. He held O'Neill in $500 for the grand jury.

2 Boy Bandits Get Long Terms

Pleading guilty to a series of store robberies in Medford, Everett and Malden, two 20-year-old bandits received long prison sentences in Middlesex Superior Court today. William E. Sharp of Washington st., Lynn, must serve seven concurrent terms of 12 to 15 years and two additional concurrent terms of four to five years, an actual total of 16 to 20 years imprisonment.

Charles F. McClung of Nicholas st., Everett, was also given seven concurrent 12-to-15-year sentences, plus one four-to-five-year term. His total, like Sharp's, is 16 to 20 years' imprisonment.

A third defendant, Dominic J. Juliano, 20, of Woodlawn st., Everett, was let off with a suspended Concord Reformatory sentence and three years' probation.

He pleaded guilty to being accessory in an attempted robbery, staged by Sharp and McClung.

House, Senate Shift Quarters

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The House and Senate both voted today to abandon their usual quarters temporarily because of fears that a 120-ton roof might fall in on the members.

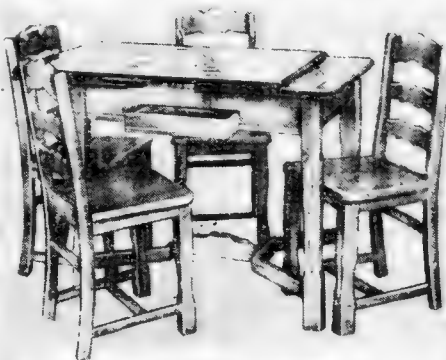

During the six weeks until a new Congress is convened on Jan. 3 temporary steel trusses will be installed to hold safely the east iron roof now supported by ancient rolled iron beams. Engineers say these old beams are suffering from "fatigue."

Beginning Monday, the Senate will meet in the old Supreme Court room of the capitol. The House will use a caucus room across the street. Less than half the Senate showed up for work today, and the resultant recess deferred action on the controversial Logan-Walter bill at least until Monday.

Lady Godiva Gallops Tax Protest to Long

from Topsfield did not mend his ways.

SIGNS MAKE PLEA

From shapely Yvette's neck, forehead, hung a sandwichman's sign, one part reading:

MR. LONG DONT TAX

Cosmetics
Undies
Perfume
Dresses
Marcel's

The other side pleaded:

MR. LONG
Please Don't
Tax Us
Any More

For the moment, in and around the State House, all business was suspended since as Yvette clicked her way to Long's office. In fact, for the first time at the capital, the vote was unanimous. The eyes hid it.

MEETS TAX KING

So Yvette marched into the presence of the great Drab Grab Tax man and she said to Topsfield Henry like this, in lines well learned:

"Mr. Long—With salaries what they are now in show business, we girls won't be able to stay in the business if you insist upon taxing such things as cosmetics, lingerie, hats, dresses, shoes and the many other items that are so necessary to our work and which we can barely afford to buy today. Please don't forget us."

Well, Yvette's secret was out, but it was only with some reluctance that she admitted then, by a coincidence, she is the same Yvette Dare who dows the Dance of the Sacred Parrot at the Latin Quarter night club.

Anyway, you could have knocked Henry Long over with a whiff of L'Oreal, but he staggered manfully back and he said to Yvette:

"Well, little girl, why don't you go home and put some of those things on? You haven't any of those things on.

"You haven't a dress on. You haven't any cosmetics. You haven't any real shoe on and you haven't even got a hat on. URGES GIRL TO DRESS

"Why don't you go back to your hotel and dress up. Then come back here and I'll see you and talk with you."

There were some who thought they heard an innocent bystander make an aside crack like "and you bring the tax," but this could not be immediately confirmed.

The meeting ended on this high note of general reason and old Topsfield, gulping, and Yvette twinkled back to her stool which was sagging at the curb.

She went once around the State House block—while thousands cheered—and then she had back to her hotel room, where she had left her two marx purses named Einstein and Lipack.

Yvette did not sit down immediately.

Five In London 16 Newspaperman's Family Killed

LONDON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Here is one of the tragedies of the battle of London:

Last Friday night when the German air force dealt one of its punishing blows to London a bomb struck the home of Edward Robinson, English newspaperman.

Robinson's two brothers and their wives, and his elder sister were killed. A younger sister was wounded gravely. Two aunts, driven insane, have been placed in an asylum.

Accuse Man Of Stealing Town Bridge

WALFOLE, Nov. 22 (AP)—Lawrence De Sjarlais, 27, of Bellingham, was held in $500 today for hearing. Dec. 27, on a charge of larceny of a bridge weighing 50 tons.

The selectmen of Franklin recently approved an order to repair and open a street, and Police Photographer Stanley Chilson was assigned to take pictures of the road and a bridge crossing a brook.

When Chilson reached the bridge he found it had been torn down and, for the most part, carted away. He also found an acetylene torch which, Police Chief Walter Burke said, was traced to De Sjarlais.

The chief said police found most of the bridge in De Sjarlais' back yard—four miles from its original location.

Four-Year-Old Lost Maine Boy Finds Himself

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 22 (AP)—Sumped in their quest for a lead in their search for little Donald R. Jones, missing 4-year-old boy, police gathered at his home today to plan new moves—when he walked home of his great grandmother.

While the officers and Donald's distraught mother, Mrs. Ivy K. Jones, talked things over, Corporated and Donald appeared, accompanied by a patrolman. The boy had spent the night at the home of his great grandmother.

4 WIVES GRANTED DIVORCES

Her husband told her he considered their marriage "a mistake" and that he didn't "intend to support any woman," Mrs. Gertrude E. Drangenstein of Murray ave., Roxbury, testified in Suffolk Probate Court today.

"He married me May 31, 1930, and left one week later," she went on, as she sought a divorce from Harold N. Drangenstein. "We had a very short married life."

Her brother, Thomas J. Feeney, told John V. Phelan that he had never even seen Drangenstein. The divorce was granted.

DIVORCES CONVICT
Mrs. Mary R. Granese of Chelsea was granted her freedom from Michael Granese, whom she married in August, 1932, after she testified he was now in State Prison, serving a 10 to 12-year term for a $15 robbery. She was granted custody of a daughter, Emily.

Divorced Mrs. Estabell L. Johnson of Sidlaw rd., Brighton, told Judge Phelan that after she married Ralph Johnson of Shirley st., Winthrop, she found he was a dyed-in-the-wool sportsman.

"Once I had just come back from the hospital," she said, "and he said he'd care for me. The next day he went duck hunting. Another time we planned a vacation together. The day after we decided our plans he went away on a fishing trip."

He also twisted her arms "for no reason," and pulled her hair, she said. She was given her freedom. The couple were married in January, 1932.

Mrs. Janie Wright of Jersey st., Back Bay, said she married Max Wright in South Carolina Dec. 28, 1931. Afterward they moved to Florida. Then, she said, on Dec. 29, 1928, he went to Tennessee, and though she has spent her vacation every year since searching for him, she has never seen him.

She came to Massachusetts to live she said, while he has been to Ohio and Texas. She was given her freedom.

Boston College Freshmen Elect

Thomas F. Maloney and John F. Wark, both of Dorchester, were elected president and vice-president respectively of the freshman class at Boston College.

Maloney is 19 years old and is the son of John Maloney of Spectwell st., Dorchester. He is the youngest of four children.

He graduated from English High

John F. Wark Thos. F. Maloney

In 1933—he was captain of the baseball team there—and went to Lawrence Academy, where he played baseball and football.

Wark, who became 29 years old today, was graduated in 1933 from Boston Latin School, where he also was vice-president of his class.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Wark of Pleasant Hill ave., Dorchester, and has a younger sister.

ENGAGED—Engagement of Rita Hurley (above) of West Somerville, daughter of the late Edward F. Hurley, Record sports columnist, to Vincent Pollard, today had been announced.

NO-STRIKE CLAUSE DELAYS PEACE

DOWNEY, Cal., Nov. 22 (AP)—Their wage dispute settled, management and labor were deadlocked anew today over a "no strike" provision in a new two-year contract covering military plane production at Vultee Aircraft, Inc. Five days of negotiations broke down late yesterday, but a War Department representative said he would remain on the job in the hope that the latest difficulty could be ironed out.

President Richard W. Miller and Factory Manager C. W. Perelle walked out of the conference as the climax of hours of argument over a clause which would preclude new strikes during the life of the contract. United Automobile Workers Union representatives refused to accept such a provision.

READY TO TRY AGAIN
Later Miller told Maj. Sidney Simpson, the War Department emissary, he would be willing to resume negotiations today and reiterated that the management was willing at any time to submit to arbitration.

The union turned down another arbitration suggestion yesterday.

Whether the CIO delegation would begin another conference, it was not announced.

The big Vultee plant, with $41,000,000 in military contracts in its safe and 20 uncompleted, is making planes for the Army on its producing line, was closed a week ago.

110 members claiming a minimum of the plant's 800 employees, voted out downward an increase of 50 cents an hour in the minimum of unskilled laborers. The company has paid 50 cents, but voted increases to 55 cents at the end of three months and 60 cents at the end of six.

CIO PEACE NOW HOPE OF GREEN

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 22 (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in convention here, said he "hoped" the selection of Philip Murray as president of the CIO today in Atlantic City would aid the cause of peace between the A. F. of L. and CIO.

Asked if Murray, as successor to the retired John L. Lewis, would aid in closing the breach between the two organizations, Green dropped his eyes, took a deep breath and replied:

"Well, all I can say is that I hope so."

Asked how he thought Murray could endeavor to co-operate with the current peace effort, Green said further:

"He could appoint a committee. There was such a committee but Lewis was on the committee. That committee and our committee met several times, but last year Lewis announced there would be no further meetings."

Green added that in view of the statement by Lewis several days ago that he (Lewis) saw no possibility of peace at this time, "all I can say is that we hope for the best."

The A. F. of L. head previously had stated his belief that as long as Lewis remained head of the United Mine Workers' Union, the chief source of revenue for the CIO, at a salary of $25,000 he would continue to wield the balance of power in the CIO.

Wharfage Rate Boost Assailed by Davis

A proposed 100 per cent increase in Boston wharfage charges will lose the port business it can never recover and will result, also, in waterfront unemployment and division of coastwise freight traffic, Frank S. Davis of the Maritime Bureau of the Boston Chamber of Commerce told Mayor Tobin today. Heading a delegation of waterfront businessmen, Davis asked the mayor to use his influence to discourage the wharfage rate boost, an act sponsored by the Boston Port Authority.

Gen. William H. Burt Dies in Westwood

The death of Brig. Gen. William H. Burt, 75, U. S. A., retired, veteran of the Philippine campaign and the World War, was announced today by First Army Corps headquarters.

A native of Provincetown, he entered military service as a corporal in the 1st Vermont Volunteer Infantry in 1898. Death occurred yesterday at the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. Sidney Bunker of Westwood.

French Warship Surrender Denied

LONDON, Nov. 22 (INS)—British authorities today denied a report that a French warship had surrendered at Gibraltar. It is known that a French ship has been engaged in repatriating French nationals from Britain to Marseilles, and may call at Gibraltar, but the vessel is not a warship.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backache or pain in the back are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

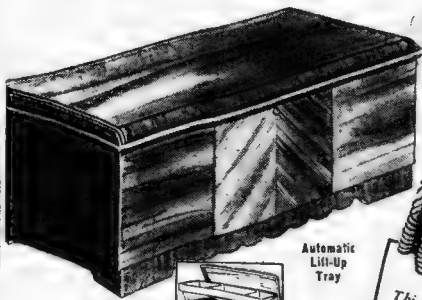

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, grating up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with a smarting and burning sensation shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

RUMANIAN CHIEFS IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—Rumanian prime minister and foreign minister arrived today and immediately were received by Adolf Hitler for talks expected to lead to Rumanian adherence to the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis.

The Rumanians, General Ion Antonescu and Prince Constantin Sutuza, engaged in lengthy conversations with the Führer at the Chancellery where they were awarded military honors by a Nazi guard before proceeding to Hitler's private quarters, the official DNB News Agency announced.

WILL JOIN BLOC

It was taken for granted Rumania would join the anti-British totalitarian bloc, as Hungary did Wednesday at Vienna, Bulgaria and Slovakia, little remnants of Nazi-occupied Czechoslovakia, are expected to follow suit soon.

The wide scope of the Rumanian talks in Berlin was indicated by the size of the delegation accompanying Antonescu and Sutuza. Included in the party were Labor Minister Vasile Ionescu, commercial and military officials.

It was learned at the same time that Dr. Vaclav Benes, member of Antonescu's council, had been in Berlin some time on a "special mission" and had conferred with Hitler.

The new Rumanian minister to Berlin, George Cristescu, also presented his credentials to the Führer, informed quarters announced.

Prior to the conference with Hitler, the Rumanians were received briefly by German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, who accompanied them to see the Nazi chieftain.

CONFERENCE MONDAY

The Rumanians will leave Berlin Saturday morning. President Joseph P. and Premier Percival Weir of Slovakia are expected in Berlin the same day.

Foreign Minister Ribbentrop will confer with German diplomats in Berlin Monday afternoon.

If Rumania, Bulgaria and Slovakia should sign up in the military pact, Germany's sphere of influence in any country which might join Britain or China in war, only three Balkan nations would remain outside the fold.

SOFA IN BLACKOUT

They are Greece already at war with Italy; Turkey, a friend of Britain but, in the German view, still undecided when finally to stand, and Yugoslavia, anxiously neutral.

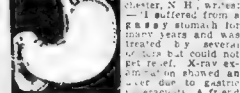

The Bulgarian public was reported in Sofia dispatches to have begun to ask, openly, whether their country is pledged to co-operate with the German army should it go to its Fascist ally's aid against Greece.

Although Bulgaria is at peace, Sofia, her capital, went under a partial blackout last night while her premier and foreign minister, Bogdan Philoff and Ivan Popoff, conferred unexpectedly with Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, and Britain was derided in Parliament as "Bulgaria's greatest enemy."

Due to Gastric Hyperacidity

A. D. Steg, Manchester, N. H., writes: "I suffered from a peptic stomach for many years and was treated by several doctors but could not get relief. X-ray examination showed an ulcer due to gastric hyperacidity. A friend sent me a box of BOSTON VON COMPANY's 'Free Sample' of their 'Stomach Ulcer Treatment'. I did not lose any time in working at it. I got relief and am now well. I am now a healthy man and have a good appetite. I think you are remarkable for those who suffer from such a stomach trouble. If you suffer from indigestion, acid stomach, ulcers, gastric hyperacidity, BOSTON VON COMPANY'S 'Free Sample' of their 'Stomach Ulcer Treatment' will give you relief. Write, please, BOSTON VON COMPANY, Dept. B-168, 128-A Tremont St., Boston, Mass. 02101. Free Sample will be sent you."

U. S CRAFT BOMB NAZI AIRDROME

EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1940

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Airmen from the U. S. Army Air Corps, who are on duty at the U. S. Army Air Corps, have been ordered to fly over the German border and drop bombs on the airdrome at Wehrmacht. The airmen are ordered to fly over the German border and drop bombs on the airdrome at Wehrmacht. The airmen are ordered to fly over the German border and drop bombs on the airdrome at Wehrmacht.

The first aircraft to arrive scattered the airdrome and the buildings with incendiaries and those which followed added greatly to the destruction with a variety of bombs.

Flames started from some of these incendiaries shot high after successive explosions. The targets still were burning nearly an hour after the bombing ended.

A large number of German bombers were seen in the sky and some of them were seen to drop bombs on the airdrome.

The bombing was a surprise attack on the airdrome and the buildings. The airmen were ordered to fly over the German border and drop bombs on the airdrome at Wehrmacht.

KORITZA IS ABANDONED BY ITALIANS

treating westward with repeated bombing and machine-gunning attacks.

The Italians themselves sent over waves of planes to pound Koritza in an effort to slow up the Greek ground forces smashing at the heels of the Fascists. These attacks started a few hours after the Greeks marched triumphantly into the town.—Editor's note.

Standing on the steps of Greek military headquarters in Athens Premier Metaxas made the dramatic announcement to a large crowd of jubilant Athenians in the street.

Cheers roared up as the premier told of the first major Greek victory of the war.

An official communique, issued here, said:

"Our heroic troops after hard fighting entered Koritza today triumphantly.

"The advance of our troops continues everywhere. A general display of flags has been ordered."

As a result of this break in the Italian line, the Greeks were said to be threatening Argirocastro, an advanced base only 30 miles from Porto Edda. Porto Edda is one of the bases used by the Italians to supply their Albanian army from the rear.

VISTORY NEWS SPREADS

Koritza and Argirocastro were the two springboards whence Italians launched their invasion of Greek territory before dawn on Oct. 25 after an ultimatum that was served on the Greek government at 5 a. m.

The news of the fall of Koritza spread with lightning rapidity through Macedonia. Excited groups gathered on street corners in Salonika to discuss the victory. Koritza, abandoned by the Italians who retreated to the west from the important southern Albanian military base, was seized and occupied by the Greeks after they first obtained a grip on its eastern suburbs.

Before noon, it was stated in Athens, Greek troops were occupying positions north of Koritza which had been in Italian hands only this morning.

ROME ADMITS EVACUATION

Advanced Greek units, entrenching themselves in the suburbs, waited for the main body of Greek troops to move up. Occupation of the entire town then was effected.

An Italian high command bulletin, issued in Rome, admitted evacuation of Fascist troops from Koritza and said two Italian divisions had retreated to the west, suffering considerable losses.—Editor's note.

Complete occupation of Koritza was carried out at 10:30 a. m., according to last-minute military dispatches.

These reports claimed that the Albanian populace emerged from their homes to welcome the "Greek liberators."

Italy conquered Albania in a short "blitz" war launched on Good Friday of last year.—Editor's note.

The Greeks moved in after Italian artillery which had been shelling the town since yesterday from the hills to the north and west was silenced by Greek cannon fire and aerial attack this morning.

BOOTY CAPTURED

Reports from the battle front described the war materials and booty captured by the triumphant Greeks as "fantastic" in amount.

These reports claimed that two entire Italian motorized divisions and sufficient war material and equipment for six divisions fell into Greek hands.

By midday, the entire city was taken over by the Greek military. The flag of Athens was flown over the town hall by invitation of the Koritza municipal authorities.

Church bells were rung in every town and village throughout Greece to signalize the victory. Athens, draped in flags and bunting, was the scene of wild enthusiasm. Cafes and restaurants were crowded with revelers drinking toasts to the arm, and churches were filled with the devout, who offered thanks to Providence.

A Reuters' (British) News Agency dispatch from Athens said that Greek troops were given a tumultuous reception by the population of Koritza. Bands broke through a police cordon as the victorious soldiers marched in, cheering for Premier Metaxas and Gen. Alexander Papagos, Greek commander-in-chief.—Reuters'—Editor's note.

Counters carried the news of Koritza's capture to every harbor throughout Greece and the islands of the archipelago.

Greeks Jubilant At Victory

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 22 (AP) — Thousands of jubilant Greeks, armed at the fall of Koritza, paraded through the streets of Athens today, shouting:

"On to Rome!"

Some enthusiastic men are carrying British soldiers through the streets on their shoulders. Reports from the captured Albanian city say that Greek flags hidden in the cellars of Koritza for years were broken out and hoisted on buildings everywhere to welcome the victorious Hellenic warriors who marched in after the retreating Fascist army.

Pointing into the town to meet the conquering Greeks, old men, women and children were declared to have thrown flowers in the path of the advancing army. Some knelt, crying, beside the roadways to the city, which became Italian less than two years ago.

Special groups of Greek soldiers were quickly set to work counting and sorting the great booty left behind by the Italians, who had accumulated heavy stores in Koritza to feed and supply their army in its invasion of Greece, army advisers said.

It was disclosed here, meanwhile, that gendarmes already were en route to Koritza to take charge of the city.

A special postage stamp with the word "Koritza" will be issued to commemorate the victory.

BOSTON POLICE SET TO RAID NAZI STRONGHOLDS ²⁵

Such correspondence, I am sure, would be found in the files of consulates in any country."

"It is of course incorrect to use the word 'agent' as applied to stories about me, because I am never an agent of an individual."

Harvey H. Bundy, chairman of the Foreign Policy Association, came to the defense of his organization after it was mentioned in the Dies report in reference to Miss Ina A. Gotthelf, German-born Wellesley graduate.

Dr. Frederic E. Aughagen of New York, founder of the American Fellowship Forum, an organization pledged to keep this country from participation in the war, was quoted as testifying that he met Miss Gotthelf at a meeting of the Foreign Policy Ass'n in Boston.

Chairman Bundy, denying strongly that there was anything Anti-American in his organization, declared that Miss Gotthelf had attended meetings as a student from the Fletcher School of Diplomacy and gave a short talk on the youth in Germany.

"But she is in no way connected, even indirectly, with our organization," Bundy declared as he pointed out the organization has been in existence 20 years and includes many prominent Bostonians as members.

Two Springfield men linked with the Forum by the Dies report vigorously denied that they knew that the organization was Nazi-sponsored, as charged.

The men, Otto Bumiller and Rudolph Mangold, both of whom hold good positions in Springfield factories and are considered loyal workmen by their firms, referred to statements that a local branch of the Forum had been established in Springfield.

Bumiller, who said he met Director Aughagen of the Forum during a meeting of the Foreign Policy Ass'n, declared Aughagen asked him to interest Springfield people in a branch there and to arrange a meeting.

Bumiller said he did so and invited people of various standing, including the mayor. As he understood it, the forum was organized as purely an American group with the idea of keeping America out of war.

SPARE INNOCENTS

Dies, in St. Louis, meanwhile was quoted as saying that his committee is "not going to move against the innocents of whatever nationality."

At the same time, he expressed belief that the White Paper "will effectively smash the plans of the Nazi organizations."

Contrasting his methods with that of Chief G-man Hoover's methods in dealing with subversive activities, Dies stated:

"The FBI has an entirely different method of approach to the problem that we have. The FBI employs the counter-espionage approach. We consider that approach entirely ineffective. It was the approach used in all nations overrun by Germany—and see how completely it failed.

Dies said that approximately 500 persons already are under indictment in the East. In Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New Jersey and other states as a result of investigations by his committee.

In the White Paper, the committee summarized its report with the observation:

"The activities of the German government in this country were not solely devoted toward propaganda and so-called military espionage, but also reflected the fact that, over a period of years, the German government has been engaged in the far-sighted policy of penetrating into the economic structure of this country and those of Central and South America."

Letters exchanged between Dr. Herbert Scholz, German consul in Boston and Dr. Manfred Zapp, leading figure in the Transocean News Agency, were revealed by the Dies white paper which charges Nazi Germany with a plot to wage economic war on the Americans. While Dr. Scholz declared his case as first of a student to German business and travelers, even as American consuls play a role in put in foreign countries, the Dies committee accused Zapp of offensive activities.

Among other things, the committee concluded that Zapp kept in close touch with Berlin and that he once suggested to retreat Germany that "radical" changes between the United States and Japan were the best assurance of American neutrality.

The letters, as recorded by the Dies committee, dealt with subscriptions to Transocean News Agency, declared to have been active in spreading Nazi propaganda in this country and in Mexico, since 25 per cent of the foreign charges Nazi Germany with a news was reported to have been furnished by Transocean.

BROOKLINE WOMAN ATTACK VICTIM GAINS

Dark-haired, attractive Mrs. Mildred Tinkham, Brookline wife who was beaten into unconsciousness by a mysterious assailant, was reported gaining strength today after a delicate, four-and-a-half-hour surgical operation which relieved pressure on her brain caused by a compound skull fracture.

Police, keeping constant vigil at her bedside at Baker Memorial hospital, hoped she might soon be able to name or describe the man who overpowered her in her Beacon st. apartment after a desperate struggle sometime early last Friday.

Her husband, Warren Tinkham, a traveling salesman, found her in a coma and near death.

She has remained unconscious for a week.

At times, she has muttered incoherently, referring to some man but not making his identity clear, according to police.

Two new suspects were being questioned today, bringing the list of those interviewed to approximately a dozen.

Police say they have a definite theory as to the actual assailant, but will not move to arrest the man until the victim is able to tell her story.

John D. Bonello, Noted Chef, Dies

John D. Bonello, 57, of 134 Walnut st., Somerville, Boston, chef and cook, died yesterday morning in a hotel night club where he was employed.

Bonello, former chef at the Hotel Parker and the Parker House, was the widow Mary C. Bonello, and two daughters, Alma and Olga. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at St. Ann's Church, Somerville, in a solemn high mass at 8 A. M. Burial will be in St. Michael's cemetery, Jamaica Plain.

Girl, 13, Missing In West End

Missing since she left home supposedly for school yesterday morning, 13-year-old Patricia Stuart of Allen st., West End, was sought by her mother and police today.

The mother, Mrs. Maude Smart, operator of a Jay st. beauty shop, said she believed her daughter might have played hooky from school and be staying at the home of some girl friend.

A postcard note, left by the missing daughter, apologized for "disappointing" her mother and said there was no need for worry about her safety, according to police.

Patricia attended the Prince school in Exeter st. Her teacher said two other girls in her class were missing today.

Carol and Magda Held in R.R. Car

BERLIN, Nov. 22 (INS)—In the same railroad car which was scarred by the bullets of would-be assassins as they fled from Rumania, former King Carol and Mme. Magda Lupescu are prisoners in Spain, Balkan sources in Berlin revealed today.

They are detained on the technical charge of transporting far more gold than the Spanish transit law permits, these sources said. The train is said to be on a siding at an unnamed station in Spain, with the ex-royal party unable to leave their car. All Carol's protests and appeals so far have been unheeded.

Winter Driving Hazards Outlined for Motorists

Do's and don'ts for winter driving were listed today for state police and civilian motorists in a circular letter sent out by Capt. James P. Mahoney at state police headquarters.

Skidding and poor visibility are greatest hazards on winter highways, Capt. Mahoney points out, citing findings of the National Safety Council.

Mahoney's letter advises: Keep speed down, you may hit unexpected ice.

Watch for ice on bridges and "white" highways.

Don't impair your hearing by wearing ear muffs and keeping windows closed.

Guard against carbon monoxide poisoning in closed cars; check exhaust system carefully for leaks.

Equalize brakes and keep headlights properly focussed.

Use tires with good treads and keep them fully inflated; soft tires are more liable to skid.

Carry full-size skid chains; but chain links are inadequate.

Start in second gear on slippery roads; this avoids spinning wheels. Slow down gradually when coming to a stop, using engine as brake, then applying foot brake intermittently.

Hotel's Unknown Guest Killed

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22 (AP)—The naked, battered body of a man who police said apparently occupied a room in a nearby hotel without the management's knowledge was found today in an alley just off the Delaware waterfront.

James Flood, coroner's deputy, and a first examination showed no bullet holes or stab wounds, but there appear to be heat injuries and quite a few broken bones.

The hotel management notified police last night when a man's clothing was found in a room to which no one had been assigned.

Books Aplenty Mark Training of Air Corps

Tops—To train the flying army of the United States, there are months of book larin' behind every dive . . . or slow roll, like this. It's a job of work and concentration . . . but the results are worth it.

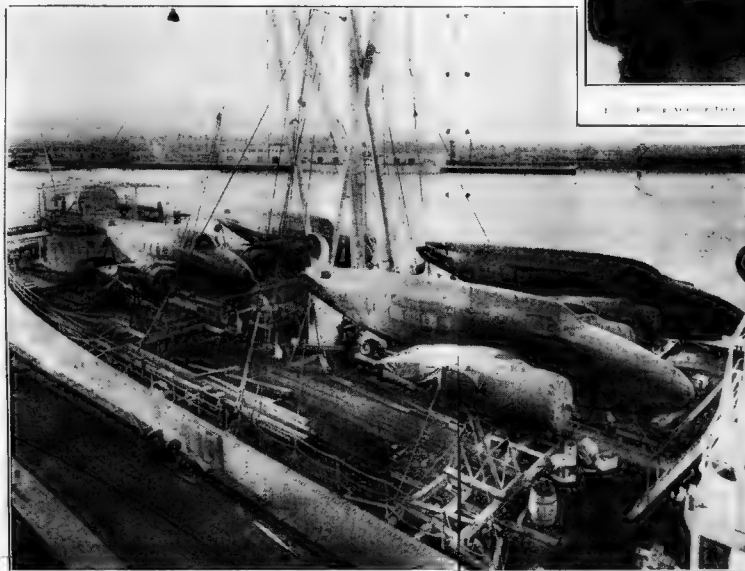

Books on Flying

Some 120,000 text books, written by the instructor staff at Randolph Field, Tex., are stored at the "West Point of the Air." From here they are distributed to other training centers . . . as Uncle Sam becomes air-minded. Here, Flying Cadets H. A. Stoecker and T. B. Fleming look over the newest texts.

Prayer of Thanks

"Bless Us, O Lord"—Unaware of the camera, this old man reverently bows his head, offers his thanks for the kindness that furnished him with this Thanksgiving cheer at New York's Municipal Lodging House. So, two-thirds of the nation feasted yesterday . . . the other third, including Massachusetts, will feast next Thursday.

Planes for Britain's War—Aboard ship and bound for England is a squadron of Lockheed Hudson bombers . . . built in the United States for duty with other Lockheeds under the coastal command of the Royal Air Force. American planes have shown their amazing superiority in the war, with Germany eagerly seizing French planes of American make for duty against England.

PROFESSOR PITIRIM A. SOROKIN, head of Harvard University's sociology department, would revolutionize American education, its upper branches particularly.

In his dream school there were to be no drab entrance examinations to determine an applicant's knowledge of Latin, geometry, chemistry and such prosaic subjects.

Instead, young men would spend three days or more in a Twentieth Century Garden of Eden.

Voluptuous Cleopatras—girls as beautiful as Claudette Colbert, who played this role in motion pictures a few years ago—would exhibit their charms and employ their wiles without restraint, as did their illustrious predecessor, the spectacularly lovely Queen of the Nile.

Choicest wines, rarest liquors and richest foods would be arrayed on banquet tables in seductive profusion.

The young man who succumbed to the ingenious enticements would flunk the test and go home with a zero or its equivalent on his card.

But the iron-willed young man who preferred a book on geology to the graces of the Cleopatras and who spurned the wines and liquors in favor of water would be forevermore the fair-haired boy.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT AS CLEOPATRA
Could Supermen Resist Such Supreme Glamour?

Soon thereafter he would retire into monastic seclusion for as many as 43 years.

At the end of which time—and Professor Sorokin seems quite positive about it—the tried and tested super-superman would be ready to fill the highest posts of leadership in government.

Unfortunately, history is not wholly in accord with the ideas of the distinguished Harvard sociologist.

His "Spartan way of life" was old and discredited many centuries before Christ was born.

The Spartans of ancient Greece, after whom this stern existence is named, were the first to aspire to greatness by a set of rigorous institutions.

But, instead of causing them to become a productive, useful people, their training made them the most warlike race the world has known.

Furthermore, in order to find time to achieve their ideals of physical and mental perfection, they found it necessary to dispense with such commonplace activities as tilling the soil and engaging in commerce.

For those endeavors, they employed slaves.

When they required more slaves, they merely went out and conquered another nation.

There was an abundance of the red blood of Mars in the Spartans' makeup, but exceedingly little of the milk of human kindness.

What the troubled world of today needs more than anything else is leadership educated in the SCHOOL OF EVERYDAY EXPERIENCE—men who have lived normal lives; men who have come to know that the best of all ways of life is that way which says, "DO UNTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD HAVE THEM DO UNTO YOU."

A QUIETER BOSTON is a possibility that appeals powerfully to everyone.

Constant horn-blowing irks the average motorist as much as the citizen who walks.

The seemingly never-ending din that characterizes life in Boston disturbs men in business offices as much as women in homes.

The effective conduct of judicial, educational and industrial affairs all suffer as a result of needless distractions.

For these reasons, Bostonians almost without exception hailed the publication of the New York City noise prevention ordinance in these columns yesterday.

The consensus of opinion is that what the largest city in the world has done in the interest of conserving the energies of its people, Boston, a much smaller city, can and will do.

It remains only for some alert City Councillor to bring the New York ordinance to the attention of his fellow Council members.

All councillors who are anxious to do something really worth while for the districts they represent can be trusted to vote in favor of borrowing and enforcing it here.

On The Side

ALL a kindly reader of Boston says on a postcard is: "How are you doin', Big Boy?" Not bad, sir. Why, I even have two readers in Suquamish, Wash. . . . Young woman named Blanche of Chicago, who says she is five feet, nine and a half inches in height, asks: "Why are you always picking on the tall girls?" This client has me confused with somebody else. I'm the fellow who printed the words of Tennyson: "She was a daughter of the gods, divinely fair and divinely tall." Am an admirer of tall girls and recently took issue with a reader, a bachelor of Santa Barbara, Cal., who said: "Tall girls are good conversationalists, smart dressers and excellent business women, but they are not 'cuddly.' For a hay-ride or a walk in the moonlight give me a cute little trick every time." . . . From an unimpeachable source I learn there is a young woman in Bloomington, Ill., who puts ketchup on ice cream.

INEZ VERMILLON is prominent in the Lambda Sigma Pi sorority. This is a business women's sorority and the members refer to themselves as "The Secret Sisters" . . . Paul Robeson, truly great Negro singer, says he is going to move his family from New York city to Seattle, Wash. Reason he gives is he wants his 13-year-old son to go to school in a city "more free of racial prejudices" . . . Peggy Kent is the daughter of Sidney Kent, film magnate. Though only 24, Peggy has just been married the fourth time. There may have been other girls who have been married four times at the age of 24, but Peggy is the first I have known.

EIGHT SONS eligible for the draft and one son in the National Guard—that's what Mrs. G. S. Katzakian of Lodi, Cal., has. Asked if she were worried about her boys, Mrs. Katzakian said: "I am worried. But I am proud. Very proud" . . . Suppose you know it will be Cornell vs. Stanford in the Rose Bowl. I think Cornell will win. You differ. All right, what odds will you give? . . . How do you pronounce siren as in "air-raid siren"? If your answer is "syrene," with a long E, it is correct . . . Feminine reader states: "While my experience has been limited to the states of Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia, I can say there is much to the contention that long-legged men make poor lovers."

UP TO A MONTH or so ago Soviet Army and Navy officers preceded all commands with: "Please, Comrade." They would say: "Please comrade, get ready to fire." "Please, comrade, take aim," and "please, comrade, fire" . . . This courtesy has now been eliminated . . . For the use of "Happy Days Are Here Again" as a radio program theme song the publishers have been receiving $100 a week for about eight years. Just shows you how much money some songs can make.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Thursday—We returned to Washington early yesterday morning from Henderson, N. C., and I had the pleasure of having Madame Tabouis to lunch with me. The rest of the day was filled with such things as having my hair washed, trying to catch up on the mail and seeing various people.

This morning I am back in Hyde Park, staying with my mother-in-law and the rest of the family in the big house, where we are celebrating Thanksgiving for the first time in many years.

The President's custom of being in Warm Springs, Ga., with the foundation trustees and the patients on this day, has meant that we have not been able to be here with his mother. The family is so scattered now that we are a small party here, but it is very pleasant to be at home and what we lack in numbers we shall make up in gaiety.

WE SHALL telephone our various far distant children wherever it is possible to reach them this evening.

I often think, when the telephone becomes a nuisance in my life and I am irritated at its constant ringing, how grateful we should be for the joyous moments it brings us and for the relief which can come over the wires in cases of emergency.

News from far away, a few years ago, took days and weeks to reach us. Today a voice can be carried straight into the sick-room and relieve uncertainty, which is perhaps the most difficult thing to bear.

Though I am staying in the big house on this visit, I have been over to my cottage and found everything being arranged for the winter months. Porch and garden furniture is put away, the climbing roses are all covered up, leaves have been raked up and burned. The work which the tree experts warned me should be done on my trees this autumn, is already begun.

There is only one thing I change in my cottage in winter. I put down before the fireplace a big white bearskin rug, which Mrs. Ruth Bryan Robie brought me from Greenland some years ago. Somehow he gives added warmth to my hearth when winter is really upon us, and I love to have him in front of the fire.

I always wish for a dog in the country, a nice little black scottie to lie on the white bearskin rug, but I promised myself that I would not subject any other dogs to life in the White House. It is altogether too exciting and uncertain to be satisfactory for a dog's existence, so I imagine I must wait again a little while before the picture of that little black dog on my white bearskin rug comes true.

The Campbell Girl

NOBLE WON'T QUIT POLITICS

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Edward J. Noble, who resigned as Undersecretary of Commerce in the expectancy of getting the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator in Connecticut, is preparing to continue his political career by the purchase of a New York radio station . . . "Singapore Sadies," a new night club in Hollywood, Florida, will offer its patrons a realistic setting—with Chinese laundrymen on the premises to press the shirts and underwear of all local newspaper men free of charge . . . When Johnnie Weissmuller was suggested for a role in a legitimate play here, the producer expressed doubts as to Weissmuller's ability to act. "Of course, Johnnie can act," he was assured, "any time he's given a tree to swing from."

THE PRESS devoted much space to the report that Sandra Rambeau had become the bride of Gen. Von Epp, the Nazi officer who drew the plans for Germany's war against Britain. Mention also was made of the fact that the Prince of Nepal, now in N. Y., was heartbroken . . . Sandra was a telephone operator in Fresno, Cal., before she came to Broadway. She was among the first group of show girls ever to descend upon Europe. Felix Ferry, who now operates the Monte Carlo club here, took those girls abroad to work at his casino in Monte Carlo. There, among her many suitors, Miss Rambeau found favor in the eyes of a Maharajah, predecessor of the Prince of Nepal. As a token of his esteem he gave her $100,000 worth of rubies.

ONE WEEK LATER the SANDRA RAMBEAU Maharajah sent his equerry to Sandra's apartment—to report that the Maharajah was displeased. He had discovered that the word Sandra always used in addressing him was not, as he believed, a term of endearment. "And so the Maharajah requests that you please return the rubies," explained the equerry, "because you kept calling him 'Sambo'." . . . Miss Rambeau did not return the gems, because the terms she exacted were impossible to meet. "Tell Sambo I'll give him back his rubies," was her message, "if he can give me back my affections."

AMONG her souvenirs Sandra treasured some letters sent to her by the Duke of Kent before his marriage. After the war was declared, the British officials decided that the prestige of Empire might be affected by these letters, and so emissaries were sent to recover them. . . . Miss Rambeau refused to negotiate except in the presence of all the Ministers. Her request was satisfied, and in full view of this grateful, august audience, and for no recompense, Sandra Rambeau of Fresno, Cal., burned the letters sent her by a Prince of England.

JOHN L. LEWIS' resignation from the CIO has necessitated alterations in the touring "Pins and Needles" the long skit. "Papa Green and Mama Lewis" is being eliminated. Harold Rome is substituting a new song, "You Can't Sit On Your Stupid Quo!" . . . A news story will break from the Women's Prison, where the matrons are fearful of the knives and other weapons being wielded by some of the inmates . . . John O'Hara, drama critic, will not review the musical comedy, "Pal Joey," which he wrote. John Lardner, sports columnist, will review the opening, while O'Hara will write Lardner's sports column that day . . . Hervey Allen's new book, "Richfield Spring," will be one-fourth longer than his "Anthony Adverse."

WHEN a troupe of American stars flew to Toronto Monday night to perform in the Canadian Red Cross benefit show, Ralph Forbes and Dolly Haas were detained in Buffalo for five hours. They're not American citizens, and insisted that all precautions be taken to safeguard their return . . . Alan Corelli of the Theater Authority accompanied the troupe. At the airport in Buffalo he met a friend, with whom he began to play cards while waiting for the plane. The airport police warned Corelli against playing cards with the stranger. "It's all right. I know him a long time," Alan assured them. "He's only Fred Kaplan, the bridge expert!" . . . "Treasure Island," one of the largest and newest Broadway cafes, shut its doors Tuesday night.

A HUNDRED DOLLARS (AMERICAN) AGAINST thirteen hundred of the same (the Dollar) will win the account, was wagered between rooms early today at the Versailles bar . . . The principals in the first wager of the kind the Kialto has heard about were contractors . . . This same Versailles is getting quite a play of late, thus rewarding the patience of its operators a brave and costly bit of patience.

JACQUES RENAUD'S INVITATION to the listeners to try their luck at leading the Renard band is partly responsible . . . At times the noise is produced by amateur stick-swinging in the face of helpless patrons sounds much like the cacophony of eight giant bladders slipping into first speed with ungreased gears . . . But the appeal to the exhibitionism of the under-brained third is undeniable . . . And others try it, too.

THE VERSAILLES GOT OFF to a piteous beginning in spite of a lively colored revue and a third opera band . . . Even Bill "Bojangles" Robinson spurred business too little to cancel the bookkeepers' order for a pint more of red ink.

SO THE SWITCH TO RENAUD and an all-white show was made . . . Things are a bit better and Sheila Barrett's impending engagement is regarded hopefully . . . This booking was a surprise . . . Miss Barrett had embarked on a "concert tour" and was last reported bound for Texas and a tour of auditoriums under the sponsorship of ladies' aid societies and civic and political clubs.

SHEILA'S ROUTINE was being treated as laugh-off, or as Eddie Mac might say, "high on the low." One of her gags, for instance, goes this way: "So what's the play keep the audience open-mouthed—everyone's yawning!" . . . Now talk about Saroyan, the Unrepentant American and Head of the Whoever-Heard-Of-Em O.N.C. Society? Would not seem to mix with the policy of "World You Like to Lead a Band?" . . . But there it is. Sheila opens Monday.

BEFORE DISMISSING THE VERSAILLES it seems unfair to posterity not to record the famous speech which Bill Robinson delivered to kiss-off an affable crowd which was demanding more encores than was good for a handful of nervous cash registers, and to point out the order while the Great Man was performing . . . It was something new—to these ears—in the line of a certain speech.

PERHAPS THE MAN KNOWN AS "BOJANGLES" has been using it since George M. Cohan ceased thanking audiences on behalf of his whole family . . . ("My mother thanks you, my father thanks you" etc., etc.—that Cohan classic in thanksgiving).

EVEN IF IT'S OLD WE THINK it was marvelous and certainly rates some type . . . Mr. Robinson said: "I'm grateful to Manager Al Taylor . . . I'm grateful to my manager, Marty Perkins . . . I'm grateful to all you nice people . . . But, most of all, I'm grateful to Abraham Lincoln."

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Dorothy Stone and Charles Collins, who continue to amaze their friends by failing to conquer the art-form known as the film, are the logical occupants of the niche once held by Fred Astaire and sundry partners, have been booked for the Mayfair as

COMING TO THE MAYFAIR ON DEC. 5
Dorothy Stone and Husband Charles Collins
Returning to Hub

of Dec. 5 . . . Vaughn Monroe has assigned his arrangers to an intricate job of transferring "There'll Always Be an England" to manuscript . . . Chappell is banking on a new "war song" entitled "When the Lights of London Shine Again" . . . (Seeing that two English song writers wrote "South of the Border," it would be reciprocity if a couple of ASCAP tunesmiths did something fine for England.)

AND WE WERE WRONG when we said that band leaders were compelled to play the BMI song, "Practice Makes Perfect" . . . They are compelled to play "Practice Makes Perfect" or some other BMI song at each airing . . . (BMI is owned by the broadcasting companies.)

Hollywood Today

BIDS FOR ENGLAND'S POET LAUREATE

By Louella O. Parsons

Cecil B. DeMille

DETROIT, Nov. 22—If Cecil B. DeMille is successful in his present negotiations to bring John Massfield, Poet Laureate of England, to Hollywood, it will be one of the great events of movie town history. No writer of contemporary times occupies a higher place than the great poet whose lines and sagas of passion have brought to England. He is an extraordinary personality in addition to his work. Years ago the great Massfield visited America. That was long before fame touched him, and he was a wandering sea man picking up odd jobs as he could get—even such menial tasks as washing floors in saloons. Also he was a great friend of O. Henry's.

C. B. is inviting him to come to Hollywood to be associated with him in filming the sea epic "Reap the Wild Wind" for Paramount. Perhaps in other times the Poet Laureate of England might not consider such an offer. But England is now anxious to send her representative men to America and this is one of the important reasons Mr. Massfield may accept.

BRENDA JOYCE will no more than get her bags unpacked when she returns to Hollywood than she'll die at 20th Century-Fox for her first starring picture, "Private Nurse." It's said Brenda earned this because no one in our time has made more friends than little Brenda. She was so shy and frightened of crowds when we started—but now she's enjoying every bit of the excitement and signs autograph books by the hundreds. Her screen beau in "Private Nurse" will be Cesar Romero. Twenty years ago they were some time ago and they're bringing it up to date meeting a patriotic angle when the "Private Nurse"

MERLE OBERON goes to an army camp

MERLE OBERON and Alexander Korda are seeking experience when they asked to see the sensational short feature, "London Can Take It." If you've seen this heartbreaking film of bombed London, you can realize how shocking it is to English people. But Alex and Merle were completely unmoved when their former London townhouse was flashed in the background and shown to be completely destroyed with windows shattered and the roof demolished. They knew the house had been hit—but not until they saw it with their own eyes did they realize to what extent.

DENNIS O'KEEFE becomes a permanent fixture at the Hal Roach lot. The minute he finishes "Tiger Returns" with Carole Landis he goes into another for Hal "Broadway Limited." They're both Carole Giant type roles and should boost Dennis' movie stock. Patsy Kelly will play a femme press agent. Lenox Kinsky and Zasu Pitts are in the cast, and Victor McLaglen, who has been off the screen a long time, also gets a big role and probably top billing.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD AND DETROIT: Florence Rice, who hasn't been seen much since her divorce, stepping out to the Bar of Music with Allan Lane; Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers plan a fourth honeymoon to South America right after the first of the year; it was almost serious when a flick from a cigarette set fire to a wig Laurence Olivier wears in "Lady Hamilton"; "Tin Pan Alley" was previewed here in Detroit and everybody liked it very much, according to word from Chicago. T. Netcher's latest heart throb is Bernice Parker, now in "Meet the People." Bill Robinson, popular Negro actor and dancer, is opening in an all-Negro revue in one of the big Chicago cafes.

HARRY RICHMAN has financed the Riviera Night Club in Florida in association with Ben Marder. Spencer Tracy was at the airport bright and early to greet Mrs. T., who returned from New York (Ging Baker) flew to Sacramento to incorporate the baby stars of 1940 and make it a permanent club group.

JOE PASTERNAK is doing raves over Ann Gillis work in "Nice Girl"; now it's Mary Healy and Matty Fox together at Ciro's; Peter Lind Hayes is out of town; Perc Westmore is getting hundreds of letters from ladies asking him to describe exactly the color of "strawberry blonde" hair. It's reddish-gold-blond—says Perc and that's the best he can do.

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
Associated Press War Analyst

King and prime minister of Britain laid stress in their speeches to the new Parliament on the two ways and there appear, now, to be only two—in which Britain can win this war.

The first was the effort to obtain mechanical superiority over the Axis, in large measure a matter of American supplies. The second was the necessity for a British victory in Africa.

It would be foolish to pretend that these are not dark days for Britain, days of gigantic need. At home, under the constant siege of ship and snore it is vital that the British go slugging every day in planes, guns and men a war. The forays of the RAF, already impressive, must persevere steadily in scope and power. The U-boat must be beaten so that there must be a better defence against the dangers of planes that fly night for night at the war industries of the kingdom.

It is a little more than a year since the Winston Churchill has been frank about it: Britain must have a better equipped army than that of the Axis for the offensive campaign that must be fought if Britain is to break the perilous stalemate that is fast developing. Sooner or later the British must carry the war back to the continent or be beaten, and to do this they must have an overwhelming superiority in the air and in the weapons they use on the ground - to say nothing of the help of a fleet in force.

It is indeed difficult for a Russian to comprehend why the optimism the prospect of a new foreign contact has created at least in Moscow. Hence if it comes to the matter of contact and a decision to war first to withdraw about $600 million and the states of the Middle East.

It is said that British troops, sent to the aid of the Chinese, would have been welcomed at the Ancestral Temple and the Temple of Agriculture by the Chinese officials of the Government. But the Chinese demands precluded the expression of hope for an early victory and the British have seen a military and MANILA, Nov. 22 (AP)—Capt. Rufo Romero, court-martialled on charge of conspiring to sell military information, offered today to undergo brain operation to eliminate any possibility of mental reproduction of the information in question.

The Filipino officer, a West Point graduate, made his dramatic offer at the trial after a sweeping denial of charges that he had taken maps from Ft. McNelly with intent to disclose of information about Philippine defenses.

He claimed he was the "victim of enemies who wanted to see him separated from his American wife."

POLICE TO PATROL CAMP

In order to cope with traffic problems and other problems that might arise, State Police today said an additional barracks for troopers will soon be constructed at Camp Edwards, the soldier city.

SANTASON

SANTASON DUE IN HUB

Santason is coming to Boston again this year. Edward E. Mitten of the Boston Herald, sponsor of the annual Thanksgiving Day parade, is this year, and it is probable that the main feature of the procession will be back as usual.

The parade was held in Boston on Nov. 28, the Massachusetts holiday.

Waldorf CAFETERIAS

FOOTSTEPS pounded along the passageway outside. There was the sound of heavy banging on doors, of voices shouting. A fist hit the door of the stateroom, beat a steady tattoo on it.

"All out!" a voice cried. "Submarine! All on deck! Put on your lifebelts!"

"They are a little early," sighed the baron-turned-spy. "Sometimes I think we Germans are almost too punctual." Then "All right, don't knock the door down, my good fellow. We're coming."

The pounding moved to another cabin.

The Baron arose reluctantly. An automatic appeared miraculously in his hand. He weighed it, his eyes cold, hard; his lips compressed.

"Well? Have you decided?"

Somehow, Brinda doubted that he would really shoot. But whether he would or not had ceased to be the point. He still had the list of British agents. It was still her self-appointed task to get possession of that list.

"Yes," she breathed. "I'll come with you."

He pocketed the gun, wrenched open the door, snatched her through it.

Desperately, Brinda looked about for an English face. But this was a Dutch boat, and the passengers were chiefly Continentals—preoccupied, stolid people, most of whose faces were now fitted with animal selfishness and panic.

For now a real U-boat had just arrived, the British Snark having disappeared a hour or so ago.

Suddenly, Brinda saw a gleam of gold braid—a bridge officer. Surely, she could appeal to him with safety. But, providentially, the spy Konrad spoke first—in German.

"Any trouble?"

Principal Characters in Today's Chapter

BRINDA, cultured daughter of Mata Hari, notorious World War spy.

SANDY, Sir John Sanderson, Brinda's guardian.

KONRAD, a daring and ruthless German officer, who pretends to be a waiter.

The ship's officer looked at Brinda curiously.

"None," he said. "The captain does not even suspect."

"Good," said the spy. He handed the ship's officer a packet of British bank-notes.

The officer held back, still eyeing Brinda.

"Don't worry. She's going with me."

The officer took the money, and vanished into the crowd.

Brinda thanked her lucky star that she had not tried to enlist his aid. As her captor had said, the Germans did things thoroughly.

The spy shouldered his way forward through the panic-stricken passengers.

Half the life-boats were full; others were empty. Several stood at the rail, eyeing the shadow of the U-boat as it wallowed in the sea off the port side.

A panic-stricken mother was trying vainly to put a lifebelt on a small boy.

"Boom!" he kept saying. "Boom!" His eyes were shining. He had been tremendously impressed by the warning shot the sub had fired across the bow of the "Vandam."

The mother looked agonizedly into Brinda's eyes.

"Will they torpedo us?" she asked in a mixture of French and Dutch. "Do you think they will sink us?"

"No, no," said Brinda, shaking her head. "No, no."

The mother appeared to be comforted.

Brinda turned on Konrad. "It is terrible to frighten all these people—for nothing."

He smiled coldly. "A little terror does not do any harm. It makes them respect us. Come!"

Brinda followed him, frantically looking for Lieut. Answorth who was nowhere in sight.

The baron joined a group about the lee rail. Among them stood the captain of the "Vandam."

A NARROW ESCAPE

The knot split apart, and a young officer in a German naval uniform stepped briskly from a ladder to the deck.

"This is a new U-ship," said the ship's captain hoarsely. "We carry no contraband."

The U-boat commander looked a trifle bored.

"Splendid!" he said. He was looking about anxiously. As Brinda's captor stepped forward, his face was suddenly relieved.

The two men exchanged salutes. The spy spoke rapidly to the U-boat officer, and the latter looked quickly at Brinda. Then he shook his head. The spy protested.

"No, no, Baron!" said the U-boat officer. "Impossible. Do you not understand?" He whispered again.

The spy turned back to Brinda with an air of disappointment.

"It's lost," he said, simply. "The Gestapo has a man on board the submarine. The commander, though he is a friend of mine, dare not take you. Auf wiedersehen!"

"Sehnell!" exclaimed the U-boat officer. "Hurry!"

"Coming," said the spy. From the ladder he blew a kiss to Brinda. "Get your passengers out of the boats," he said, contemptuously to the skipper. "There is no danger. Can't you see this was only a rendezvous?"

He waved again to Brinda. "Remember, Liebchen, spying is not for amateurs."

His head disappeared as he descended the ladder to the boat that had put out from the submarine.

Brinda watched apprehensively as the craft put back to the U-boat where it lay wallowing in the trough of the sea, its running lights winking like the eyes of some sinister, malicious monster.

But for the merest chance, she might have been in the interior of that tube of deadly steel, doomed to she knew not what horrible fate. But at least there would have been a chance of regaining the list.

Now Sandy was lost, finished. That list of agents in the hands of the enemy meant his doom. Worst of all, it might mean England's doom.

"Please," she turned to the ship's captain and held out imploring hands. "Isn't there some way to stop him?"

The skipper gazed at her wonderingly.

"Stop him? I am only too glad to have him go!"

"But he has stolen documents of the utmost importance. Documents affecting the welfare of the British war government."

The captain looked worried.

"That is not my business," he said. "Anyway, what can I do?"

Brinda only hope was that if M. S. Snark would return.

The U-boat tender was drawing away from the "Vandam," disappearing into the night toward those little lights bobbing up and down on the dark surface of the sea.

A DESTROYER!

A shiver, but not from cold, as thoughts grew grim... England must be honeycombed with spies, hundreds of Fifth Columnists, preparing for the day when they would deliver the British Empire to Hitler. Some of them in high places, too. Put who were they?

There was a shot close at hand. Then an excited babble of voices.

"Hurrah!" shouted the clear, fresh voice of an Englishwoman.

Other voices took up the cry. Hands were pointing. Brinda's eyes followed them, and she gave a gasp of pure joy.

In the distance, perhaps a half mile away, a black plume of smoke was streaming out of the funnels of a racing craft. By the white wave at its bow, it could be only one of the fastest kind of naval vessel—a destroyer!

Suddenly, its searchlights stabbed at the night, tearing the darkness to shreds, pointing slim, silver fingers at the U-boat, lying like a sluggish hulk on the waves.

The tender did just reached the side of the submarine. As the men scrambled out of it, and up the glistening sides of the underso prowler, a sword of light pinned them as though they were stricken insects.

They could be seen clambering desperately up the side of the conning tower.

In a gleam of the destroyer's searchlight, Brinda fancied she could recognize her recent antagonist, the spy who was both a waiter and a baron, as he vanished within the conning-tower. Her nails bit into her palms at the thought that he carried with him the stolen list of British secret agents that she had been so sure she would return to Sir John.

"Oh, hurry, hurry!" she prayed to the onrushing destroyer.

THE DEATH DIVE

For a breathless moment, it seemed the U-boat was immediately doomed; that one of the shells shrieking from the six-inch guns of the destroyer was bound to make a direct hit. But the sub commander had plans of his own. With the tender-crew safely aboard, the U-boat suddenly got under way, not submerging immediately, but moving ahead on a course that brought it around the bows of the "Vandam."

This maneuver placed the Lutch ship, with its cargo of helpless passengers, between the destroyer and its quarry. As a result, the British boat had to silence its guns momentarily, while it also changed its course in a wide, sweeping circle around the motionless liner.

The U-boat took advantage of this interval to begin its dive.

Nerve-shattering moments passed as the destroyer completed its maneuver. Then its guns lashed out in white flame again, and the water about the vanishing U-boat 'rased into convulsions.

Now, the destroyer straightened out, and, splitting the sea in a mighty double-wave, bore down at high speed on the submarine, intent on ramming.

At the same moment, the stars of the U-boat submerged. Brinda could imagine it plunging on down through the ocean depths, its crew waiting for the next explosion that would tell them they were doomed. She shuddered as she realized that, had she been allowed aboard, she would have been doomed with them.

Never Give Up Hope

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

FRIENDSHIP. We talk a lot about it. We're always saying how much friendship has meant in our lives—how much we value our friends. But sometimes I wonder how much we really do value them... how much we'd do for them in a real pinch. How much we should do.

Helen started me wondering about it. One of those jabs that seemingly smart women somehow contrive to get into for themselves. Got Helen involved with a peculiar person—and somehow, that caused endless unpleasant talk.

You can't, if you know Helen, to love for a second that there was anything really wrong in what she did. She has always been unconventional, rascally, impulsive—but straight as they come, and utterly generous.

Her friends can't possibly have forgotten—they'd be puffed by her kindness too often. And yet they're doing a strange thing. Or is it strange? Perhaps you'll agree with them.

IT'S THIS WAY. The people who don't know Helen or don't like her—and like every successful person, she has scores of envious meanies camping on her trail—are naturally making the most of this situation. Spreading all manner of lies. Which feel entirely justified in protecting of times. So often that most of their own lives, and others' paid as take it for granted. So often that themselves on this philosophy detachment.

SO WHAT? The worst I want is that "envious" and "meanies" to know. Here's a fellow or social situation. We've all seen it some ARDICE AND DISLOYALTY OF

THE LOWEST ORDER. If we could all be a little more understanding, we pay the price for it. Standing by with a common sense, sharing our friends' happiness, we would have a far happier life. And we can imagine running out of our lives. I'm asking you.

His Sister Influenced Him

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm 26 years old and went "steady" with a certain young man until a week or so ago. It seems his sister has influenced him in some way to give me up, without having a reason for it.

TURKEY in the straw . . . What could be a more appropriate theme song for a Thanksgiving party! . . .

In order to have their debut party a bit different from the usual run, Alice Hunsaker and Posy Kent, who are making their bows together a week from tomorrow night, are planning to have an old fashioned country dance in the gymnasium of the Park School in Brookline . . .

The gym will be completely transformed with cornstalks, pumpkins, lanterns and hay, into a rustic setting for this double header debut . . . The youthful guests will wear informal costumes in order to better enjoy the vigorous old fashioned square dances . . .

The dance is being given by the girls' parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Hunsaker of Louisburg square and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Rich Kent of Brookline . . . Alice and Posy were classmates at Winsor School . . .

Peter and Jerry Hunsaker will head the usher staff and their assistants will include Colin MacLaurin, Alice's cousin; Keith Merrill, Thomas Gardiner, Nathaniel Sage, Paul Sheeline, John Bemis, Richard Byrd, Richard Comey, John Crawford, Cecil Drinker, Thomas Winslip and Allan Waite . . .

Miss Frances Eberstadt of New York is coming from Bennington College to spend the week-end with Miss Hunsaker . . .

Alice Merriam Honored

ANOTHER DOUBLE HEADER is the gay cocktail party being given this afternoon by two Beacon Hill bachelors, Edward W. Ackley and Barker H. Slade in honor of Alice Merriam . . . This is one of a round of farewells for Alice who leaves early next month to spend the winter months in Arizona with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Gray of Mt. Vernon street . . .

Mary Elizabeth Sears will be hostess at a dinner party in Alice's honor next week at the DOROTHY CHASE of Belmont, who recently became engaged to George Tarbell, Jr., of Lincoln, smiles sweetly as she receives the best wishes of her friends at a recent debutante party. Her dress of wine crepe is trimmed with bands of ruching.

Beacon street home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sears . . . Before departing for the West Alice will be a bridesmaid at one of the season's most outstanding weddings—that of Polly Gardiner and Drayton Phillips son of the U. S. Ambassador to Italy, William Phillips and Mrs. Phillips of Beverly . . .

ALL POINTS of the compass will be represented in the tempting array of delicacies to be sold at the annual Thanksgiving Food Sale next Wednesday for the benefit of the Penn School in North Carolina . . . Decorative sweet cakes, plants from the Carolinas, cake from Mrs. James J. Storrow's New England Farm, and White Mountain cake are only a few of the holiday goods on sale . . . The affair will be held at 27 Marlborough street, and among the energetic workers for the good cause are Mrs. Ann Benson, Mrs. C. F. Rathbender, Jr., Mrs. Greeley Curtis, Jr., Miss Margaret Curtis, Miss Anna Cutler, Mrs. J. Malcolm Forbes, Jr., Miss Marian Honans, Mrs. Charles Mason, Miss Elizabeth Weld, Mrs. Robert Osgood, Mrs. Paul Sachs, Mrs. Arthur Williston, Mrs. Thomas Elliott, Miss Lucy Drew, Mrs. Roger B. Merriam, Mrs. J. Preston Rice, Mrs. Richard M. Smith and Deborah Styles . . .

Keen Competition

POSTPONEMENT till tomorrow of the annual Mortimer Cup steeplechase meet at Hamilton, one of the North Shore's biggest hunting events, has caused a serious conflict in social plans of many North Shore sports fans . . . Since most of the hunt-men are also staunch Harvardians, they have had to toss coins to help them decide whether to stay home and ride the geese or join the grand exodus of football fans to New Haven for the Harvard-Yale game . . .

Plenty of excitement will reward the stay-at-homes for competition will be very keen among the riders challenging Howard Seguire last year's winner, for the coveted Mortimer Cup . . . The ladies' hat race, called Diana's Dash, was won last year by Miss George C. Clement, who will try to retain her title for another year . . .

Following the meet Miss Katharine Wellman will be hostess at a large hunt tea in Topsheld.

Saturday Club To Celebrate

The Hotel Continental, Cambridge, will be the scene of a formal dancing party when members and friends of the Saturday Evening Club meet tomorrow evening for the 10th annual Thanksgiving celebration of the club.

Serving on the party committee are: Beatrice Clark, Bruce C. MacLeod, Helen Jameson, Ellsworth Lundgren, E. A. Anderson, John C. Taylor, T. R. Holten, Florence V. Johnson, Reginald A. Conard, Fred Ellis, Hawley S. Young, Dorothy Hewitt, Norman Brown, William M. Stearns, James White, Ronald Martin, Ivan White, Janet White, Edwin M. Fisher, Ray H. Fisher, Robert Schie, James Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell, James F. Flare, Norma Eickman, Arthur Rodday, John Nee, Joseph E. Weaver and William Fallon.

HOSTESS AT LECTURE

Mrs. Pitt F. Drew served as hostess, and Mrs. Donald Falvey, usher, at the Avery Lecture held for the benefit of the Children's Hospital at the Copple House this morning. Miss Avery, who lectures each Friday in this popular current events series, discussed the United States' part in the present world crisis.

"But it's going to hit a lot of you just exactly right . . . for in these days it's necessary to own a veritable lineup of lipsticks . . . we've known girls who chose from six shades the one intended for a particular day, or half, or frock, or evening! And you can manage it with this one size . . . for you may have four for the price of two!"

Master of fact, your speech will be taken care of by the three lipsticks offered by these lipsticks.

Try This Checkerboard Upside-Down Cake

By MARTHA LEE

Thanksgiving week usually calls for some additional entertaining beside the big feast of the great day. In most homes what goes into the making of a Thanksgiving meal is traditional and varies little from year to year. So perhaps you have that all planned. For other innumerable parties it helps to have a few easy recipes laid out to be whipped together in short order.

One of the old favorites that's long survived is "Checkerboard Upside-Down Cake." The alternate arrangement of prunes and apricots in the bottom of the pan gives a colorful contrast when the cake is served. Rich with fruit and fragrant with ginger, it's a dessert that's typical of the good things we expect to eat during Thanksgiving week.

CHECKERBOARD UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

Bottom of Pan:
2 tsp. melted butter
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup liquid in which fruit was cooked

1 tsp. ginger
1 cup cooked prunes
1 cup cooked, sweetened dried apricots

Combine butter, sugar, liquid from fruit, and spice in bottom of heavy iron skillet. Put prunes and alternate in bottom of skillet with apricots to give checkerboard effect.

Butter:
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup butter
2 eggs
2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ tsp. salt
2 tsp. ginger

1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. soda
¾ cup boiling water
Cream together sugar, shortening and butter; add molasses and beaten eggs and mix. Add flour sifted with salt, spices and soda and mix. Add flour sifted with salt, spices and soda and mix. Add boiling water and beat well. Pour over fruit. Bake in a moderate oven (325 deg. F.) about 1½ hours. Run knife around sides of cake and invert pan on serving plate. Serve warm, plain or with whipped cream. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Pumpkin pie is a favorite dessert for Thanksgiving, but there are other fine ones and among them is the Fruited Ginger Ring given below. Let the Thanksgiving spirit spread over the week-end in order to include several of the favorite desserts.

The charm of the fruited ring is due to not only the delicious blend of flavors of gingerbread, fruits, and rum-flavored whipped cream, but to its attractive appearance.

FRUITED GINGER RING

1 lb. can fruits for salad
¼ cup butter
¼ cup dark brown sugar
¼ orange
1 pkg. prepared gingerbread mixture

1 cup whipped cream
2 tsp. sugar
Vanilla or rum flavoring
Nutmeg

Drain the syrup from the fruit salad and reduce, by boiling, to about one-half cup. Add the butter and sugar and cook 2 or 3 minutes longer. Pour into a ring mold. Arrange thin slices of unspiced orange in the bottom of the ring and add the salad. Mix the gingerbread, following directions on the package. Carefully pour the batter over the fruit mixture. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. F., about 40 minutes, or until cake is done. Remove from oven and allow to stand about 5 minutes and then turn out on a plate so that the fruit mixture is on top.

Whip the cream; fold in the sugar and flavoring and pile in the center of the warm cake ring. Sprinkle nutmeg over the whipped cream. Serve at once. Makes 8 servings.

Bette Davis' Leslie Crosbie, controlled, serene, charming and abruptly insane with jealousy and terror, is effective without being one of her best characterizations. Miss Sondergaard's Malayan woman, who speaks but two native phrases throughout, is monstrously if mildly menacing. Herbert Marshall is Herbert Marshall only a little more so, but James Stephenson's lawyer, actually the only normal human in the whole lot, is a most persuasive performance.

H-Y Game Still Blue Ribbon Event of Fall

TOMORROW BY MID-NOON YALE'S BIG concrete pucker will be brimming with—O say, 60,000 people—from apple cheek tots to wizened grandsires. An electric hum of expectancy will run round the oval. New Haven will be gay with bunting. The papers will carry glory spreads about the varsity kids with weights, measures and expert opinion.

And yet nobody's football reputation is at stake! There are no bowl-bids waiting for Yale or Harvard. No championship hangs by a hair and for all its athletic significance or bearing on National ratings, the H-Y game might be played for the little red Spalding Guide or the Senior Class Albums—so that another team photo can be inserted showing lean, lithe, clean-chinned purposeful looking lads, as they were in that war-fraught, fantastic period of 1940! And won't it be fun for these future adults to pick up the year book in, O say 1950 after they've chased the children to bed and go thumbing back through the yellowing record to the time when life was gay and youth was bubbling?

The H-Y game has no National angles on it. But it's still the stand and blue-book, ultra traditional event of our autumn sport calendar. The papers give away thousands of dollars worth of live advertising. The radio carries an ether account! The telegraph tolls are tremendous and, though the newspaper public may never have seen a Harvard drum major toss his baton over the posts or heard a massed Yale cheering section moan "Another job for the undertaker..." it gets a lot of uplift just to read how the rival hoeds battled in the late sunset over hunks of goal post lumber. It's Tradition!

So tomorrow's H-Y game is not merely a football contest to be measured in terms of tackle bucks, mouse traps and fingertip knots. It is a panorama of 65 years causing old arthritic coppers with nutmeg chop whickers who played in the hay-pad, canvas cosset and stocking rap era to come cross country. Why? To recapture their lost youth and live again illusion of the past. Their sons and their sons' sons come too. So the game remains a focal point for generations of class men, who squirm the flaps off their underwear rooting their team home till the last white line is crossed. It's Tradition!

THERE ARE NO SWOBBAS, Sandows or Atlases, or any of those sun-tanned, magazine cover examples of he-man perfection on either team. Just students of average standard in wind and limb. So Harvard has won only two games—Amherst and Brown. And Yale has licked only Dartmouth on two last-gasp, prayerful heaves in the fourth quarter!

But both have had their big moments! Just try this on your pianola! Penn 50, Yale 7 (the most calamitous licking a Yale team ever took); Yale 13, Dartmouth 7; Dartmouth 7, Harvard 6; and there's the pay-off! Harvard 10, Penn 10! Has your reaching for aspirin, eh? All right! Try this on your victrola! Princeton 14, Dartmouth 9; Dartmouth 7, Harvard 6; Harvard 0, Princeton 0! Doesn't make sense, does it? So let the experts fiddle with their facts. Let the dead past bury its dead! Turn the job over to the crystal gazers. For there is no yardstick to measure what will happen tomorrow, because the same game played by the same teams on seven successive Saturdays would, like as not, produce seven different scores. It's what happens tomorrow that counts—perhaps on a play cribbed from the prayer book, like the pair of passes which Yale's Bartholomew caught in the waning seconds of the Dartmouth game; perhaps a stubbed toe by the point kicker, like those by Harvard in the Army and Dartmouth games. Little emblems of good and bad fortune which form the thin, wavering line between glory and woe, hero and goat, hallelujah and Hoople.

THE SEASON, EXCEPT FOR BOSTON COLLEGE, has gone largely by contraries. For the writer recalls on his pre-season tour of New England that Yale's Ducky Pond had said, "Yes, we're at least twenty-five per cent better than this time last year." He meant it! And, simultaneously, Harvard's Dick Harlow surmised that his squad was bigger, more mature and with an added year of gloom. Things looked better! Not only that but, at Hanover, Earl Blaik was more optimistic. He had, he thought cautiously, a little more of that requisite "oomph" and he had written in his annual foreword of the Dartmouth publicity hand-book, "... the mysterious Indians will be a constant threat and on one occasion may rise to great heights." He wrote better than even he suspected there! For the "heights" happened last Saturday in the controversial Cornell game.

So September optimism has turned, like autumn's Ivy to saffrons, buffs, russets and purples, and a philosophical gloom. The resurrection didn't come off! Except... except, Harvard, if it hasn't tasted much sweet, hasn't swallowed much sour either, as its string of three tie games attests—Harvard 6, Army 6; Harvard 10, Penn 10; Harvard 0, Princeton 0! Neither feast nor famine there. The fat or lean of its entire season is centered in tomorrow's game.

This, then, is a tradition game in the purest sense. For one suspects if the same Harvard and Yale athletes were togged in different colors and playing for the Idlehour A. C. vs. the Wildcat Pleasure Club, there would be no more than a sideline fringe of the neighborhood's unemployed and a firehouse delegation to watch. The game would be the same, with the lads heaving and tugging just as hard.

But this is Tradition—laste the word—Tradition with its savor of half a century, generations of football females on the arms of coonskin encorts, bucksters hawking pasteboards and colored feathers, the electric undercurrent of expectation, the deep throated hollers in unison. No, annually each mid November, the H-Y crowd comes as much to see the rest of the crowd and break the late autumn chill with a friendly snort, peck and gulp, as to see 22 lean, limber youths push each other around. An illusion of the moment, to be sure. But a cherished illusion made dear by 65 years of repetition.

Woven of 2-ply worsted yarn to insure extra warmth plus extra wear.

Gentlemen, there's a story behind these coats that you're entitled to know. Frankly, most tweed overcoats are good to look at but lack the stamina to stand the gaff of long, hard wear. We have overcome this fault by having these handsome Pembroke tweeds woven of long, double twisted worsted yarns that will stand about any reasonable test of wear you care to give them. Further than that — we had the yarns tested by our Testing Laboratory. Why not come in and try on a Pembroke today? See for yourself why so many Boston men believe that buying Pembroke is one swell way to get MORE for LESS MONEY. Single breasted raglan and set-in sleeve styles in the new shades for winter. Regulars, shorts and longs in sizes 34 to 44, $35.

DODGERS IN FIELD FOR MIKE OWEN

(Collier's News Bureau)

Even though he laid out $150,000 to land Kirby High, crack right-hander, from the Phillies, Larry MacPhail still is in the market for first class talent to bolster the poky Dodgers.

MacPhail is certain to be one of the busiest moguls at the annual major league meeting next month. At the present time he has several leas brewing, one which would bring Mickey Owen, peppery catcher, here from the St. Louis Cardinals. MacPhail makes no secret of the fact he is bidding high to acquire Owen, and his offer may be such that Sam Breacon will not turn it down.

Brooklyn also has been sending out feelers to the Giants' agent Harry Danning. Bill Terry may swap the latter, but hardly to such a bitter rival as Brooklyn.

The Dodge's are none too high on their present receiver, Babe Phelps. With his pitching staff bolstered by the Hight transaction, Manager Leo Durocher believes a receiver like Danning or Owen may mean the pennant for Brooklyn.

Although he showed great improvement this season, Owen still is not regarded as an outstanding catcher by National League experts. This may be one of the reasons Breacon and Branch Rickey may consent to sell or trade him to the Dodgers.

Shooting Enthusiasts Urged To Form Clubs for Hearst Meet

In response to a flood of entries and inquiries from individuals without league or club affiliations who are anxious to participate in the William Randolph Hearst Citizens' Marksmanship Competition, the rifle editor of the Boston American-Record today reprints the ruling.

The official rules state that this Hearst Rifle Shoot is open to:

- A—Any established rifle league conducted by a rifle club or association of clubs and composed of senior, civilian riflemen who are citizens of the United States.
- B—Any league organized for the purpose of the Hearst matches, composed of senior, civilian riflemen whose members are citizens of the United States.

Automatically this precludes the possibility of individuals competing in the very nature of the title shoot makes it a league competition.

NOT POSSIBLE

Naturally if there was any way to make it possible for the many persons who are interested in marksmanship and who are anxious to take part despite their lack of club or team membership, the Hearst newspapers would be only too glad to have them in the field. Because this Hearst shoot was designed to include as many as possible and to interest newcomers to the sport.

FOUR-MAN TEAMS

But there is no way in which strangers from various sections can be satisfactorily brought together to shoot as team members.

Therefore, it is the rifle editor's urgent duty to inform all such persons who have sent in individual blanks that they must band together into teams of at least four men and a coach in order to have their entry accepted.

Once a club has been formed, the rifle editor can arrange to take a number of such clubs and build a special league with them as the membership one which can then officially compete in the Hearst shoot.

So, once again to the individuals who have filled out blanks and mailed them in, see if you can't get enough shooters together to form a team.

Make Change In U. S. Golf

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—The United States Golf Association announced today what should be a popular change in the program of its national open championship. Beginning with next year's tournament at the Colonial Club, Fort Worth, Tex., June 5-7, former champions will be exempt from sectional qualifying rounds and will be automatically eligible for the championship proper upon filing their entries.

Previously exemptions had taken in only the 30 low scores, and ties in the previous year's championship and the home club pro. Starting in 1932, in order to leave a sufficient number of places for the sectional qualifiers, this group will be cut to the 25 low scorers and ties.

ALLERDICE SINGS SWAN SONG TO TIGER GRID SQUAD

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 22 (AP)—Dave Allerdice, Princeton's quarterback and passer par excellence, sings his college football swan song tomorrow, acclaimed by undergraduates and alumni as one of the greatest Tiger backs in a decade. When the 185-pound Noblesville, Ind., youth peels off jersey No. 84

after the Princeton encounter with Army, he will have to his credit a season's record for pass completions that now stands at 51.6 per cent. Allerdice passes have accounted for eight of Princeton's nine touchdowns via the air this fall. With one of the most powerful lines in the East rushing him,

Dave completed 23 of 35 passes against Penn to gain 351 yards. This while Princeton runners were losing 16 yards on ground plays. Son of an All American football captain of a Michigan "Point-a-minute" team in 1909, Allerdice first revealed himself as an uncannily accurate quarterback passer against Yale two years ago. Coach

Ed Wachen stated once as a national college football news column, previously had been designated a halfback, and he has to date the past season. Allerdice, the only Princeton quarterback ever to turn in three consecutive victories over the Elm, started his gridiron career on a sandlot near his home, Lees-mu-halfback at Indianapolis. Sheet high school, and was changed to a blocking back, at Phillips Exeter Academy, New Hampshire. He has no plans for a professional football future, but hopes to enter the Army following graduation from the University of Texas, after graduation.

Captain Joe and Ace Charlie

BULLDOG HUNTERS—Charley Spreyer, left, and Capt. Joe Gardella pause before boarding train for New Haven this morning. They tackle Yale in the Bowl tomorrow and while Harvard is a slight favorite, Spreyer and Gardella and all the lads are in for a tough session. The underdog in this classic wins more often than not.

Coaches Picture H-Y Test Decided on Breaks

By BILL GRIMES

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 22—For the first time since Charlie Brickley's eleven dedicated the New Haven saucer in 1914, the Harvard squad did not engage in a Friday workout in the Yale Bowl before engaging the sons of Eli Yale in the annual gridiron classic here tomorrow afternoon.

Two weeks ago, Harvard went down to Philadelphia to play Penn and the Red and Blue warriors were odds-on favorites to knock off the Crimson but Coach Harlow stated that Harvard would give Penn everything it had in the way of football.

Arriving at Philadelphia, the Harvard squad went out and took a look at Franklin Field but did not work out. Instead, they climbed into buses and rode out to the Engineers' Club and practiced on the golf course. And, much to the surprise of the football world, Harvard battled Penn to a 19-10 draw. Harlow may not be so optimistic. And in all probability, he is just hoping to tie Yale. He has announced a few days ago that Harvard would not play in the Bowl the day before the Yale game. He doesn't want to cause any heads to nod.

TWO CRIMSONS AILING

With the exception of Capt. Joe Gardella and Louie McKinney, Harvard is in good physical condition. Capt. Joe may be a bit out of the game, but as he has been under fire in a couple of games, he was pretty well shaken up in the Princeton game when he collided with Chub Peabody while both were trying to bring down a flier. McKinney has made a good recovery after being hit by a coach's late and should be able to fill Gardella's shoes. And if McKinney isn't pronounced ready for action, Bill Barnes will be on the left flank.

TOUGH ON FAVORITES

From Dick Harlow right down the line, Harvard doesn't like the fact that it has been made the favorite. In Crimson-Blue gridiron tilts not many favorites live up to predictions. On the other hand, Yale is perfectly satisfied that Harvard has been given the edge by the gambling fraternity.

Dick Harlow is building up air at every opportunity and Ducks Pond hasn't made any bones about declaring Harvard is vastly undermanned.

However, both coaches expect a close game and one which a break can be the deciding factor.

"Fifth Down" Sundae Wow At Hanover

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 22 (INS)—A "Fifth Down Sundae," concocted by one of Dartmouth's most popular restaurants, today set a new record in Hanover for a single soda fountain item.

Issued for fifteen cents as soon as Dartmouth learned that it had officially beaten Cornell, the sundae has not only met with instant student favor but the recipe has already won honorable mention from a soda fountain trade magazine.

The ingredients, which include a minted marshmallow sauce for Dartmouth's green and cherries for Cornell's red, are as follows: Five scoops of ice cream, chocolate, vanilla, coffee, strawberry, and orange sherbet, arranged in a square with one in the center; chocolate syrup, minted marshmallow sauce, chopped nuts, four cherries, and the whole decorated with whipped cream.

Austen Lake Is Harvard-Yale Game Official

Four of the outstanding officials in the East have been selected to work the Harvard-Yale game in New Haven to-morrow.

The men chosen by Asa Bushnell are Referee, W. H. "Red" Friesell, Jr., Princeton; umpire, R. B. Goodwin, Washington and Jefferson; head linesman, Austen Lake, Lafayette, and field judge, A. W. Palmer, Colby.

(Ed. Note—Austen Lake is the Boston Evening American's brilliant sports columnist who is "tops" as an official as well as a writer. Lake will have an article on the Harvard-Yale game in the Sunday Advertiser.)

DOUGHTY AUBURN TEAM INTENT ON BREAKING B. C. STRING

A confident Auburn football squad arrived in town today, primed for their clash tomorrow with the Eagles of Boston College.

Lead by Head Coach Jack Mengher and his assistants, the 55 players ended their long train ride at Back Bay station. Stopping at the Hotel Kenmore only long enough to register, they headed for Fenway Park and a light workout to stretch cramped muscles.

At University Heights, Coach Frank Leahy was content to put his undefeated and untied charges through a light workout and signal drill.

Meanwhile, an aroused city's enthusiasm for the local team which has sealed the national heights rose to a fever pitch. Everywhere words of caution against over-confidence were being swapped by royal rooters.

The Southern Tigers of Auburn, although thrice defeated this season, are still regarded

Sammy Angott Is Sought for Title Bouts

Sammy Angott, popular N.Y. Boxing Association lightweight champion, is considering three attractive bids to defend his title within the next 60 days.

San Francisco is red hot for an Angott-George Latka encounter, this time with the 135-pound crown at stake. Sammy outpointed the California "wonder" in their recent engagement, but the officials recorded it as a draw and there is a popular demand for a rematch. Angott would rule a 1 to 3 favorite the next time he faces Latka.

nationally as a top flight club and hungry to knock off the high flying Eagles and regain nationwide prestige.

Fans still groggy after last week's Boston College-Georgetown clash and facing the Turkey dinner bill were a bit slow in applying for tickets for tomorrow's game, but the early ticket sale was brisk.

But to advance sale has moved steadily in the past two days has evened out another feature, tickets is expected. There are still plenty of good reserved seats at low prices.

BEAT TOUGH TOES

There is no parade in Auburn for the Auburn team with three defeats as they stand out threat to B.C. for the Southerners have played only the best so far.

Their losses have been at the hands of Southern Methodist University, Georgia and Louisiana, while they have scored wins over Tulane, Howard, Georgia Tech and Clemson. They also hold a 7-7 tie with Mississippi State. It is the experience gained by Auburn in these matches that Coach Leahy fears greatly.

The Georgetown game last Saturday took its toll physically among the B.C. men, and there is no question they will not be as fit tomorrow. Gene Goodenault, out of uniform a week and favoring a bad knee, will probably sit this one out. He may join in to help to keep this team from record of playing in every B.C. game versus a freshman, in the last four years.

If they get a break from the weatherman, the B. C. Eagles and the Auburn Plainsmen will play to a capacity gathering tomorrow afternoon at Fenway Park. The advance sale has been exceptionally heavy, approximately 25,000 and so an average "gate sale" will mean a 40,000 crowd. It's high time that the public began to support Boston College.

What fight manager and boxer that B. C. wasn't within a city block of its top form last Saturday. . . .
How will Dartmouth react tomorrow against Brown? The N. H. L. must be just one big happy family this season. Jack Adams, who is rebuilding the Red Wings, sold a very promising defense man, Bert Janku, to Los Angeles. The Bees will train on a new and modern field at San Antonio next spring. The new park is completed and will be in perfect shape when the Stengelmans report late in February. It will be a great relief to the Bees to get away from the sandy soil of Florida. . . .

Although it hasn't received any publicity, the Joe Louis-Al McCoy fight will be a sell-out and will "gross" $85,000. Art Wedgeworth, pro at the Unicorn Country Club, is back in the sporting goods department at Jordan Marsh. Along with Joe Stein, Manchester, N. H. Country Club pro, Wedgeworth will operate the Jordan Marsh golf school this winter.

Bill Stewart, Jr., who was playing with the B squad at Notre Dame, received a serious knee injury in St. Joseph, Mo., and is out for the season. After Frank Leahy had pointed out their many mistakes against Georgetown, the B. C. Eagles will be anything but over-confident tomorrow. The slow movies show

Although his concussion has cleared up, Charlie Freeman, B. U.'s watch charm guard, will sit out the Western Maryland game. Charles is back at classes but carrying his left arm in a sling. Man Mountain Meets Angel

Man Mountain Dean, 300-pound Georgia hillbilly, will get the chance he has been clamoring for when he attempts to win the heavyweight wrestling championship from The Angel Thanksgiving night at the Arena.

Dean spent several weeks here easing other contenders from his path. Then he left and started a one man elimination in New York rings. His success on both fronts immediately made him the number one man.

There is not the slightest question but that Dean will give The Angel about everything he can handle.

THE ALL-AMERICA diamond belt boxing championships being staged at the Arena by the American-Record with the co-operation of the Irish-American A. C. are getting hot . . . In next Monday night's trial bouts one of the finest arrays of amateur boxers to compete in this city will sweep into action.

JOHNNY LEONARD

The high spot of the show will be the return to the fistic wars of Johnny Leonard of Taunton who will battle for honors in the featherweight division . . . Leonard was the All-Eastern 118-pound champion last year, and he later made the trip to San Francisco for the grand national finals.

Leonard is my idea of one of the finest amateur boxers in the country . . . This youngster is a human buzz-saw once the gong sounds . . . In addition to his ability to toss punches, Leonard can take a healthy sock himself and he is also better than the average as a boxer . . . Leonard is confident he will once more win the Eastern title, and then go on to capture the national crown . . . I thought Leonard should have won the national title in San Francisco last January . . . A poor decision deprived him of a well merited victory.

Larry Pacino of Roxbury will also be on next Monday night's card . . . A cold prevented Larry from competing last week . . . The Roxbury youngster is back working in the gym, and will be prepared to step into action at the Arena on Monday night . . . Tom Kanaly insists that Sam Di Vincenzo, Haverhill lightweight, will be one of the stars of the show . . . Many new boxers also have hopped to the front in this year's tournament, and the remaining trial battles are also certain to produce their share of surprises.

As in former years, the price scale for the trial bouts is only 55 cents and $1.10 . . . Even a Boston College-Georgetown football game cannot give any more action than is crowded into one of these trial tournaments.

Some Advice to Erring Football Officials

WHEN THOUSANDS of football officials move from their dressing rooms to gridirons in every section of the country tomorrow each of them will be giving some thought to the error made by Referee William Friesell in giving Cornell five downs for its illegal touchdown play against Dartmouth. Football officials as a group are anxious to call things as they are, and they do not play favorites.

There are, however, numerous football officials who have the erroneous idea they are bigger than the game that has enabled them to get into the limelight. They believe that the coaches, players and public should submit to what they consider their superior judgment on football matters.

This type of official is often more obnoxious to his fellow officials than they are to anyone else.

"I will run this game," has been a familiar statement by this kind of official.

Asa Bushnell, who assigns the various college officials, should insist that this type of official be eliminated. When plays come up where there is an element of doubt as to what the correct decision should be, officials should consult with their fellow officials, and then render a verdict.

It is unreasonable to suppose that some of the officials who worked with Red Friesell in the Dartmouth-Cornell game did not know that Cornell was being given a fifth down.

It is possible for any official to make a mistake. Delay in making a decision where a protest has been lodged would avoid blunders such as the one made by Referee Friesell at Hanover, N. H.

Items From My Private Notebook

I WAS TALKING with Holy Cross men at Worcester, and they tell me they believe Boston College will get a rude awakening when it opposes the Purple eleven at Fenway Park a week from Saturday . . . Holy Cross has had a poor season, but its club has shown recent improvement . . . It will have everything to gain and little to lose in the Boston College game . . . Boston College will be carrying the mental burden on account of its fine record this season, and its hope of getting a Sugar Bowl bid . . . The rush for tickets for the Holy Cross-Boston College game is going ahead merrily.

Holy Cross is a favorite to win from Manhattan at Worcester tomorrow . . . Boston College is a choice over Auburn . . . Frank Leahy is looking extra sad these days in an effort to keep the Eagles from getting too overconfident . . . More football games are lost by overconfidence than by fumbling.

One of the largest delegations of Harvard graduates and students ever to make the trip to New Haven for the Yale game will be in the Bowl tomorrow afternoon . . . After the Michigan game, Harvard's football outlook was very low . . . Then the Harlows started to go to town, and they looked too against Dartmouth, Army, Princeton, Penn and Brown . . . They can make it a successful season by defeating Yale.

Jenkins 8-5 Over Lello In N. Y. Go

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—Fate Lello of Chicago will have a slight weight advantage when he attempts to lift the lightweight boxing crown from Lew Jenkins in Madison Square Garden tonight. Lello tipped the scales at 134½ pounds today and Jenkins at 131½.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS)—Ol' Rawhide, otherwise Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Tex., comes back into Madison Sq. Garden tonight to defend the world lightweight championship against one of the several people who have stopped him, but the odds were 8 to 5 on him to win one way or another from Pete Lello, Gary, Ind., challenger.

No one has been able to figure out yet how Lello ever managed to knock Jenkins into a fish-eyed heap in a previous meeting 18 months ago.

Subsequent to that incident, Lello went on about his business of compiling one of the least prepossessing records ever to get a challenger into the ring for a Culler battle.

Phillie Stockholders Working on Nugent

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22 (AP)—A group of minority stockholders, induced with "love pills," went forward today with their fight to reorganize the National League's cellar champs, the Phillies.

"The time has come when something must be done to make the club a pennant contender," said William H. Harman, vice-president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works and leader of the minority.

HIGGE GOES FOR $100,000

A stockholders' meeting is scheduled for Nov. 26, and Harman asserted that "I intend to ask that new capital be brought into the club. Whether by the sale of more stock or by some other method, I don't care. I am very anxious that the club reach a position where it can pay off its debts without having to sell star players."

(The Philie recently sold Kirby Higbe, star pitcher, to Brooklyn, for $100,000 and three players.)

Harman owns 60 of the club's 5500 shares. The majority is controlled by Gerald Nugent, club president, and his wife.

Nugent, recognized as one of the game's shrewdest David Harman, said only:

"I've heard rumors that Harman might do something, but I really know nothing about it. I have no other comment to make," Harman declared.

"I'm not interested in personalities. Gerry is a friend of mine."

PROSPECTIVE BUYERS

"For years I have advocated that something be done, but Gerry exercised his privilege of refusing to sell his stock and the others apparently were content to let things go along as they were. I do not have money of my own, but I have met several wealthy persons who might be interested in putting up new capital, or perhaps some method of selling stock to the public, like the St. Louis Browns, might be the thing."

The Philie last finished in its first division eight years ago. Their only pennant came in 1917 behind the famed pitching of Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Green Special Handicappers Have Big Day

Duplicating the banner they enjoyed Wednesday, the GREEN RACE SPECIAL turf experts had little difficulty selecting winners yesterday at Bowie.

Collier led the parade of winners with five out of seven. Dave Wilson bobbed up with four winning choices and Bill McKinley and Fred Keats each picked a pair.

Wilson also had two winners and one third in his code special which appears exclusively each day in the GREEN RACE SPECIAL. Other exclusive features of the GREEN are revised morning line, jockey changes, pool positions, scratches and Trackmen's latest performances.

Collier started the day off with a bang in the second race with the scoring of Delta Dan which returned a $3.20. He followed along with Sailor King, $3.00; Clyde Tolson, $2.50; Magnificent, $2.00; and Dark Watch, $2.00.

Wilson scored with Sailor King, Clyde Tolson, Magnificent and Dark Watch. His code winners were Sailor King and Magnificent.

McKinley had Sailor King and Magnificent, while Fred Keats scored with Magnificent and Dark Watch.

McLennan Sees Standout Season For Hialeah

By the Associated Press

Charles J. McLennan, who keeps busy serving six different tracks as racing secretary and handicapper, has opened his winter headquarters at Hialeah Park and started checking nominations to the four stake races which closed last week.

"Although I have not had time to more than glance over the lists, the indications are that Hialeah will have considerable quality and quantity this season," he observed. "The $50,000 Widener looms up in special fashion with Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech already on the grounds."

The vast stables of Hialeah's official family also is gathering. John C. Clark, president of the Miami Jockey Club, is expected shortly. Marshall Cassidy, director of racing; Starter George Cassidy; Paddock Judge E. H. Hilenman and many others already are on hand.

Mrs. E. Graham Lewis' bay colt, Magnificent, is going to be sent to California for a try at the Santa Anita Derby as the result of his well-earned triumph in the $75,000 added Endurance Handicap at Bowie yesterday.

This was Magnificent's first stakes victory, but in his last outing he ran second to Whirlaway in the Walden at Pimlico and has earned $10,325 for Mrs. Lewis. He originally was purchased for $300 in the Saratoga sales by Samuel D. Riddle, but was resold within a few minutes to Mrs. Lewis for a reported $750.

Eight juveniles were entered in yesterday's Bowie feature, final two-year-old fixture of the eastern season, and Magnificent took the lead in the first quarter and held on the whole way to win by a nose from E. K. Bryson's fast-closing Citation.

Magnificent's time for the mile and 70 yards was a creditable 1:22.7. He has an option for half of the crowd of 20,000 and paid $150 for $2 in the mutuels.

H. P. Metcalf's Hop Skip was third.

Charles M. Feltner sold Royal Business to Capt. Ewart Johnson at private terms. The Virginia sell include his purchase in the spring of 1934 by O. P. (Red) Kent will campaign at the 14-day meeting at Charles Town, W. Va.

Jockey Willie Garner was suspended for the remainder of the Bowie meeting and fined $200 by the stewards yesterday for grabbing and holding the saddle cloth of the filly, Swynston, at the half-mile pole in the first race.

Iowa Ironman Takes Last Bow

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 22 (AP)—Silent Mike Ench, hardest of Iowa's iron men, will make his final appearance in a Hawkeye football uniform tomorrow, and that means 69 minutes of trouble for Blinn.

A charter member of the 1919 Ironmen, the 202-pound tackle played six complete games as Coach Eddie Anderson's first Iowa team turned in a string of surprising victories.

Iowa has had its ups and downs this fall, but Capt. Mike has been on the firing line all the way in our major games. In two of them he went 45 and 55 minutes before taking a rest.

Other 1919 Ironmen (those who turned in a distinction by playing at least one full game) who will wear an Iowa uniform for the first time tomorrow are Ken Petrik, Charles Tolleson, Max Hawkins and Bruno Andruska.

Wins by Knockout
BRUNSWICK, Me., Nov. 22 (AP)—Billy Lannister, 151, Poulton scored a fifth-round technical knockout over Kayo Tardiff, 150, Brunswick, here last night. Maurice Reuchean, 137, Brunswick, defeated Al Couture, 136, Lewiston, in six.

Bob O'Brien to Start For Green Tomorrow

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 22 (INS)—Bob O'Brien, Dartmouth senior who has been injured since the Harvard game, probably will start at tackle for the Indians in the contest against Brown tomorrow. The rest of the starters will be the same as those who played against Cornell last week. Coach Ed Stark announced after final practice.

Doughty Auburn Gunning for B. C.

brother Ed starting for Goodresult at right end, but big Joe sixty minutes against the Hoyas left him with a badly wrenched arm. Adolph "Butch" Kissell, second string fullback, has still got a sore arm and there are many other Eagles whose bumps and bruises are giving the trainers sleepless nights.

But Charley O'Rourke is fit as a fiddle, and for B. C. rooters that's enough to erase most of the wrinkled brows and pre-game forebodings.

The invaders are generally in good shape, but they have their minor injuries. "Rough Rufe" Reed, the kicking back, is definitely out and was left behind when they entrained. They are a deep in replacements for "Rough Rufe," however, in the persons of T. H. By, Jim Reynolds and Charlie Finney, all fullbacks.

NOTHING TO LOSE

Auburn is psychologically primed for what they confidently expect will be a stunning upset. Theirs will be the "everything to gain and nothing to lose" style of play.

Coach Woody is taking no chances with the Alabama threat as a reflected by his words today.

"Auburn has an experienced team. They've played only the best ball in the South. I know Jack Meagher personally, and I know the kind of a team he produces.

"If we make any mistakes—we will let's hope that we don't make any."

"A touchdown will probably decide the game, one way or the other."

Northwestern Picked To Whip Notre Dame

By the Associated Press

Just one more trip down the narrow and treacherous football guessing trail:

Wisconsin-Minnesota — Who knows where the lightning might strike next? It could happen even here, particularly with so dangerous, if erratic, a club as the Badgers involved. Still, one solid vote for Minnesota to close the season unbeaten and untied.

Cornell-Penn — The Big Red apparently has fallen far off its early-season form but perhaps the "dejected" Dartmouth defeat will turn out to be one of those well-known blessings in disguise. Cornell's defense seems much tighter than Penn's. Frank Reagan probably will be the best back on the field but we'll take Cornell to win the ball game.

Boston College-Auburn. The Plainsmen come north with a formidable scoring machine and a great back in Dick McGowan. It may be close, but the choice is Boston College.

Yale-Harvard. Both have come a long way since their early season pastings. This ballot for Harvard is based on the belief that the Crimson has come farther and has the greater reserve strength.

Tennessee-Kentucky. Another traditional affair with all the uncertainty that implies. Nevertheless it seems the best Kentucky can hope for is to hold the score to respectable proportions. Tennessee.

Ohio State-Michigan. Dangerous spot for Tommy Harmon and Michigan and no shattering surprise either way. Ohio State has played well all season and might turn the trick. A none-too-confident vote for Michigan.

Northwestern-Notre Dame. Northwestern seldom has much luck against Notre Dame, but this is once when it seems the Wildcats have a definite edge, especially in the line. Northwestern.

Mississippi State-Mississippi. One of the toughest of them all to figure. State, led by Harvey Johnson, is unbeaten but was tied by Auburn. Ole Miss dropped a one-point heart-breaker to Arkansas, but otherwise has a perfect record. Out of the hat, one vote for Hovious, Hapes and Mississippi.

Taylor-Southern Methodist. A battle royal but we'll stick with S. M. U.

Oklahoma-Temple. Probably close. Oklahoma.

Nebraska-Iowa. State: The Cyclones may make trouble but hardly enough to upset the probable Big Six champions. Nebraska.

U. C. L. A.-Washington: The Bruins finally found the scoring and winning combination last week in Washington, but leave your cash in the safe.

Princeton-Army: The Cadets probably will be thinking too much about next week's Navy game to worry about this one. Princeton.

Pitt-Penn State: Pitt has developed surprisingly well. Probably we'll regret it, but we'll take a Brown-Dartmouth: Dartmouth's on the up-swing and Brown seems past the peak. A doubtful vote for Dartmouth.

Columbia-Colgate: Close enough. The coin decides. Columbia.

Georgetown-George Washington: No possible selection but Georgetown.

Holy Cross-Manhattan: Manhattan has no luck. Holy Cross.

Lafayette-Lehigh: Old rivals these but this looks like no contest. Lafayette.

Villanova-Duquesne: A vote for Duquesne.

Purdue-Indiana: Both spotty but this game never goes the way it figures to anyway. Revolving like a top . . . Indiana.

Iowa-Illinois: Looks like a tight defensive duel. Iowa, doubtfully.

Detroit-Marquette: No bargain here. Detroit.

Michigan State-West Virginia: The Mountaineers upset Kentucky last week and might pull another. Still, Michigan State.

Alabama-Vanderbilt: Should be Alabama.

Georgia-Tech-Florida: The 'Gators are headed upward but Tech showed a return to form last week: Out of the hat, Tech.

Furman-Clemson. Time for Clemson get back on the track, but Furman is dangerous.

Duke-North Carolina State — Taking Duke.

Virginia-North Carolina — Ditto North Carolina, but the Tarheels had better keep an eye on Bill Dudley.

Rice-Texas Christian — Just a guess. Rice.

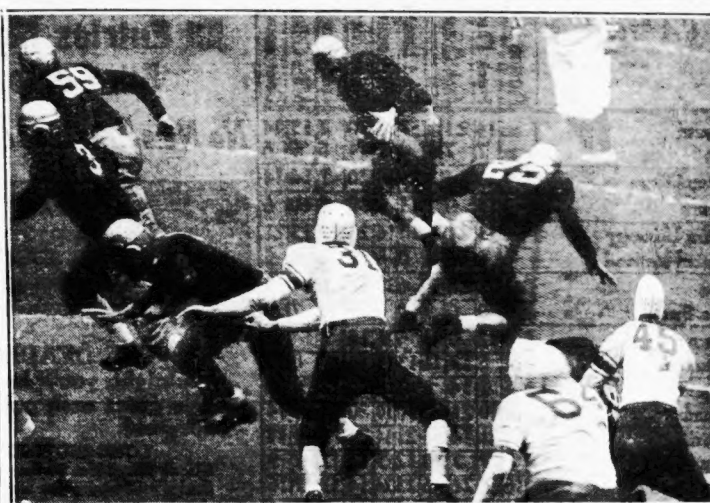

Tulsa-Oklahoma A. & M. — The Missouri Valley Conference title hangs on this. Taking Tulsa.

Gonzaga-Washington State. State, but it should be close.

Also—Brigham Young over Colorado State; South Carolina over Miami; Santa Clara over Loyola.

Wilson Seeks 'Mul'

His close friends say one of the first moves Jimmy Wilson will make as manager of the Cubs will be to try to get Hugh Mulcahy from the Phillies.

GANGWAY—Behind a three-man interference, Eshmont of Fordham takes a short lateral on a reverse from Filipowicz (25) and cuts through tackle for a first down against Arkansas.

Bruins Score First Victory Of Year, 2-0

Unless somebody jams on the brakes on the Toronto Maple Leafs pretty quickly the rest of the National Hockey League is liable to get lapped.

The Leafs were fast starters last year and there was a tendency to overlook their quick pickup this season after they were beaten by the New York Rangers in the opening game.

But now Toronto has rolled up five consecutive victories, beating the New York Americans, 2-1, in overtime last night, and the sport no longer can be taken lightly. The Americans made a game stand. It might have been called a heroic one, since their goalie was a 20-year-old kid, Charlie Hayner, who never had played in the big league before and last season was only a hopeful Canadian boy playing in the junior amateur leagues.

RAYNER STARS

Time after time Rayner, who was snubbed for the injured Earl Robertson, stopped shots fired at him by the Leaf marksmen and he received able help from his teammates. But Toronto was too strong to be denied.

Once in the first period Gordon Drillon took a pass and skated right up to the mouth of the nets and pushed in a goal that Rayner was powerless to stop.

Then, after the Americans had tied the score in the second period, Syl Apps, Toronto's great center, broke through New York's defense in the first minute and a half of the overtime session and rammed home the deciding marker.

The Boston Bruins finally managed to look something like last year's league champions and shut out the Chicago Blackhawks, 2-0, for their first victory of the year.

Frank Brimsek, Boston's stand-out goalie, got in front of everything that came his way, and Herbie Cain finally gave him a lead midway through the second period by scoring on a short backhanded shot. Mel Hill made a quick dash in the final minutes of the third period to tally the other goal.

The only team that has shown any resistance to the sweep of the Leafs has been Detroit, which whipped the hapless Montreal Canadiens 2-1 last night. The Redwings have been beaten only once, by Toronto, and in six other games have won three and tied three. As a result they are in second place just a step behind Toronto.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest, is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter the contest excepting employees of the Record-American and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win or if you predict a tie game place the letter (T) in the space nearest the names of the tying teams.

Calculate the AVERAGE score of all competing teams, except that for which you predict a tie score. Write winners and losers average scores in space provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces or on the reverse. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and then divide the total by the number of teams competing.

Only ONE solution may be entered by a contestant. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American not later than Midnight Friday the day before the games.

You need not buy a copy of the Record or American to enter this contest. Trackings of the contest form may be made from copies in the public library or the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable and given equal consideration with those slipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entry contains all selections correct. If more than one person submits perfect solutions $100.00 will be awarded the tying contestant whose average score tabulations most nearly match with actual average scores on the games. If no perfect list of solutions is entered $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct and should two or more contestants tie for this prize the tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the award. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded the person submitting the second largest number of correct solutions and should two or more contestants tie for this prize, being contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $1.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain in succession, the next largest number of correct solutions and whose average scores most nearly match the actual scores of the games.

30 ADDITIONAL PRIZES

30 games of "Hit That Line," newest craze on the entertainment horizon, will be awarded, one each, to the 30 runners-up to the cash prize winners. "Hit That Line" is played according to the general rules of football.

Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Monday, nine days after the game. The decision of the judges in all cases shall be final.

Mail all entries to the Record-American Football Contest Editor, P. O. Box 1897, Boston, Mass. In the event of nonpayment of any of the games, such games will automatically be excluded from the contest. In the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed, then that game is automatically excluded.
